Mrs. Frederick Ackerman Called at Mrs. J. J. Lyons' Residence.

Had Confused the Latter With Some Other Mrs. Lyons.

WENT THROUGH THE HOUSE AND INSISTED ON BEING FAD.

No One Was at Home at the Time but a Servant—Mrs. Ackerman Imagined Her Husband Had Become Entangled With Some Mrs. Lyons—Told Her Brother-in-Law Ackerman Had Killed Himself at the House She Was Going to Visit.

Mrs. Frederick Ackerman of 929 North Leonard avenue, whose various escapades in connection with her trouble with her husband, the furnishing goods dealer, have made her a prominent figure in the courts and elsewhere during the past few months, has added another to her already long list of remarkable performances. This last is the most peculiar of the lot.

Mrs. Ackerman seems possessed of a mania that her husband is involved in intrigues with various women and already has she named one as a co-respondent in a divorce case. Some four weeks ago Mrs. Ackerman came in some way to believe that her husband was entangled with a woman named Lyons, living on Chestnut street. Now, there is a woman by that name who keeps a resort in the vicinity of Fourteenth and Chestnut streets, but whether she is the woman Mrs. Ackerman suspected is not known. Four weeks ago last Tuesday Mrs. Ackerman started out with the intention of finding Mrs. Lyons.

Hiring a carriage and arming herself with a raw-hide she started up Chestnut street. She learned that a Mrs. Lyons lived at the corner of Twenty-third and Chestnut streets. To this house she went.

The Mrs. Lyons who lived for years at the corner of Twenty-third and Chestnut is Mrs. James J. Lyons, wife of the junior member of the well-known confectionery firm of Spitker & Co., a lady of unquestionable reputation, who had never even heard of Mr. Ackerman. Mr. Lyons owns the property at Twenty-third and Chestnut streets, but some months ago removed to 3626 Olive street.

Inquiring at the house, Mrs. Ackerman, who was supposed by the family now living there to be a friend of Mrs. Lyons, was given the Olive street address. She then proceeded to the place of business of Mr. Ackerman's brother, and, telling him that her husband had just committed suicide at the home of a Mrs. Lyons on Olive street, induced him to accompany her.

AT THE LYONS' RESIDENCE.

On the day previous to this Mrs. Lyons, accompanied by two young lady friends, had started for a visit to Yellowstone Park. Mr. Lyons was at his business and Mrs. Lyons' son was in camp with the National Guard.

When Mrs. Ackerman arrived at the home of Mr. Lyons she found no one at home but the servant girl, who answered the bell.

"Does Mrs. Lyons live here?" asked Mrs. Ackerman.

The girl replied that she did.

"Well, I want to see her."

"She is not at home," said the girl, thinking Mrs. Ackerman and her escort were friends, who had come to call on Mrs. Lyons. "She's gone to Yellowstone Park."

"What?" shrieked Mrs. Ackerman. "Gone to Yellowstone Park and taken my husband with her? I don't believe it. I believe she is in this house and I'm going to see. Come on," she said, turning to her escort.

Her escort told her she had evidently made a mistake, and urged her to go away, but Mrs. Ackerman, who is a large, muscular woman, refused and entered the house. Through it she went, causing the terrified servant to open every closet, and peering under the beds. Finally, being satisfied that Mrs. Lyons was not at home, she went down into the kitchen. She then told the servant that her name was Mrs. Ackerman, and that Mrs. Lyons had run off with her husband. The servant assured her that she was mistaken, and that it must be some other Mrs. Lyons.

HAD A RAWHIDE.

"I know better," she vehemently exclaimed, "and I came here intending to kill her." Here she produced the rawhide.

"Get me some bread and butter and beer," she continued; "the servant states my husband's paying for this, and I'm entitled to it."

The frightened servant assured her there was no beer in the house, but went to get her some bread and butter. The girl was ironing and a stack of clean handkerchiefs and napkins were piled up on the table. These, the girl says, she put in her pocket. After eating her bread and butter she finally left.

The girl did not tell the circumstances to Mr. Lyons that day, nor did she narrate them to anyone until Mrs. Lyons returned home this week. Then she told her and Mrs. Lyons told the above story to a POST-DISPATCH reporter this morning. The girl said she was ashamed to tell Mr. Lyons.

As soon as Mrs. Lyons told her husband he reported the matter to Chief Harrigan, who detailed a detective on the case. It was the detective who found that Mrs. Ackerman's escort was her brother-in-law. The brother-in-law told the officer that he should not have accompanied her had she not informed him that Mr. Ackerman had committed suicide. He says when he found out she had made a mistake and that her story was untrue he tried to get her away, but could do nothing with her.

MADISON GAMBLING CASE.

Walsh & Cella Give Bond for Their Future Appearance.

Walsh & Cella, the local pool-room magnates, who were arrested Wednesday for their connection with the Madison gambling-house, failed to show up around their usual haunts this morning. They had a preliminary hearing at Edwardsville, the Madison County seat, yesterday, and gave bond for their future appearance.

Cresswell and Others Acquitted.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 24.—Deputy Sheriff Cresswell and four associates, who have been on trial charged with the murder of George Gant, have been acquitted on the plea of self-defense. Gant was knocked from a boat and drowned in the Tennessee River three weeks ago.

Arrested in Sweden.

GOTHENBURG, Sweden, Aug. 24.—Lindholm, late Assistant Secretary of the State of Michigan, who disappeared from Ishpeming in March last, has been arrested here.

A LEBANON MARRIAGE.

A St. Louis Music Professor Weds a Kentucky Belle.

Mr. John J. Gecks, a professor of music at the Christian Brothers College and a cello player of considerable local note, is receiving the congratulations of his friends at the temporary home of himself and bride, 1729 Chouteau avenue, over his recent marriage to Miss Lucille Jennison, a charming young lady from Louisville, Ky.

The ceremony uniting the St. Louis musician and his Kentucky sweetheart in the bonds of wedlock was performed by the Rev. Rhaynes, an Episcopal minister at Lebanon Springs, on Wednesday, Aug. 15. Although they secured a license right in the town of Lebanon at the Laclede County Court-house, no one knew of it until they announced their intention of leaving together for St. Louis last Tuesday morning.

Mr. Gecks was for years a student at the Christian Brothers college and among the boys was a star musician. After he finished the commercial course at the college, he associated himself with his father, Prof. Frank Gecks, Sr., who is professor of music in the institution. He has been instructing the students there since. When school closed this year he went to Lebanon Springs both for business and pleasure.

When he arrived there he found Miss Lucille Jennison, a beautiful young woman from Louisville, Ky., there ahead of him. She was accompanied by a chaperone in the person of one of the ladies whom she had visited in St. Louis.

John J. Gecks.

Mr. Gecks admired her at first sight. She also greatly admired the young musician's melodies, and a love match was the result.

When seen this morning Mr. Gecks said he had married the woman he wanted.

"This talk about me marrying her because she is an heiress is all bosh," is said, "and that about her having a big income is a joke? We liked each other, and that's why we were married. I admit we were married on the quiet, but we did so simply because we didn't care to raise a lot of talk and fuss about the hotel. There was no elopement about the case at all."

REFUSED A HEARING.

Atty.-Gen. Moloney Meets Obstacles in His Pullman Quo Warranto.

CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 24.—Atty.-Gen. Moloney appeared before Judge Haney to-day and asked leave to file information in quo warranto against the Pullman Car Co. The motion was opposed by Attorney Rankin on behalf of the Pullman company. He said that J. S. Runnells, the company's counsel, was out of town on advice of his physician and that Mr. Runnells would wish to contest the Attorney-General's motion.

Judge Haney decided that he could not take up the motion, and the Attorney-General left the court-room. He said that he would try to find another Judge to hear his motion for the revocation of the Pullman company's charter.

NO SERIOUS FIGHTING.

Reports of the Battle at Ping Yang Denied at Tokio.

LONDON, Aug. 24.—Advices received here from Tokio assert that no serious battle has recently occurred between the Japanese and Chinese forces in Corea. It is added, however, that on Aug. 17 a skirmish took place at Chung Ho, during which a Japanese officer was killed and five privates were injured. This contradicts the reports from Shanghai of a battle at Ping Yang, in which the Chinese were said to have been the victors.

REV. JAMES WYLIE'S FATE.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 24.—The report that the Rev. James Wylie, a Presbyterian Missionary, has died from injuries received at the hands of Chinese soldiers at Liao-Yang, north of New Chwang, China, while they were marching in Corea, is officially confirmed.

NAGASAKA'S DEFENSE.

YOKOHAMA, Aug. 24.—The harbor at Nagasaka is now defended by torpedoes and submarine mines. Neutral vessels will be piloted in by boats belonging to the Japanese war ships. The harbor is seven miles long and one mile wide, the longest and finest in Japan. The city has been threatened with bombardment by the Chinese fleet.

BEYER'S EXPERIMENT.

The Swelling in His Rattlesnake Bitten Arm Going Down.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Aug. 24.—Prof. George Beyer, who is experimenting with young rattlers to ascertain if a human being can be inoculated with venom, was seen to-day by a POST-DISPATCH reporter and is confident of the success of his experiments. The swelling of his hand, recently bitten, is rapidly going down and Prof. Beyer thinks that in a week he will be his former self. He remarked that the pains after being struck with the reptile's fangs have inconvenienced him very little. If he feels certain that another test can be made he will attempt it, although he will ascertain if he has fully recovered from the first bite.

The professor says that at present he is unable to make known his findings in the case, but as soon as possible will do so.

Gen. Schofield at Halifax.

HALIFAX, Nova Scotia, Aug. 24.—Maj.-Gen. J. M. Schofield, Mrs. Schofield and Capt. T. H. Bliss, A. D. C., arrived here last on a special car.

France Chandler's Successor.

It is generally believed that Assistant and Acting General Passenger Agent Crane of the Wabash will be promoted to fill the vacancy caused by the death of General Passenger Agent France Chandler and that Chief Clerk Von Phul Taylor will be promoted to the position of assistant general passenger agent. It is thought that General Manager Hays will issue the circular on Monday.

BABY IS GONE.

Mrs. M. W. Weisel Asks Aid in Finding a Child.

Was Left With Her to Be Boarded and Cared For.

TURNED OVER THE LITTLE ONE TO THE POLICE.

Now Its Father Is Coming and She Wants to Recover the Child, Which She Believes to Be at St. Ann's Asylum—Left With Her by a Well-Dressed Woman, Who Told Her the Father Was J. W. Owen, a Traveling Man.

Mrs. M. W. Weisel, who lives at 808 Park avenue was given a babe to board about two months ago, but she has not got it now and is making frantic attempts to find it, because J. W. Owen, its reputed father, who is said to be a St. Louis traveling man, will be in St. Louis to-morrow. She believes that the child is now at St. Ann's Orphan Asylum and this morning she appealed to Mayor Walbridge to help her get possession.

Mrs. Weisel says that she has called at St. Ann's Asylum and asked to see the child, but she was told that there was no such infant there and that if there was she could not see it. The story of the manner in which she acquired possession of the child and how she came to send it away without the knowledge of its parents was told by Mrs. Weisel this morning as follows:

MRS. WEISEL'S STRANGE STORY.

"About three months ago," said she, "I decided that I could board a babe, and went to the Bethesda Home, at Twelfth and Soulard streets. I told those in charge that I could care for a child, and showed them references. Two days afterward a richly-dressed woman about 22 years of age came to my house in a carriage. She had with her a baby boy about 10 days old. She said she was the mother of the child, but flatly refused to give her name or address. She did say, however, that J. W. Owen, a traveling salesman, was the father of the child and that I would receive remittances from him every two weeks in payment for the babe's board. She was a beautiful woman of the blonde type. She had a gold watch set with diamonds and one big solitaire ring sparkled on her finger. Her manner convinced me that she was a woman of wealth and refinement, and I consented to take charge of the babe.

J. W. OWEN, GENERAL DELIVERY.

"There was not the vestige of any name on its clothing, and its mother refused to give me the address of any one except 'J. W. Owen, general delivery, St. Louis.' Before she went away she put the babe in a cradle which I prepared for it, and as she bent over it she wept bitterly. It seemed to me to be one of those cases where nothing could be said, and I did not ask her any more questions at that time. Before she left, however, she said that she was going to Chicago. I asked her then if she would call occasionally to see the child. She hesitated before answering and then said:

"'Oh, I would like to but I cannot. I dare not.'

"From that day to this I have never seen the mother, but a neighbor who saw the woman as she left said that he thought he had frequently seen the woman afterward in the vicinity of Sixteenth and Chestnut. I think, however, that he was mistaken, because the woman was apparently rich and refined. My money for board and care came regularly in registered letters from various cities and towns until about three weeks ago. I kept the child until ten days after its board was due and used every effort to communicate with its supposed father. The mother had told me never to look for her and not to recognize her if I saw her. I received no answer to my letters and I told the police that I could not take care of the child any longer. It was taken to St. Ann's Asylum.

THE FATHER COMING.

"Forty-eight hours afterward I received a letter from its father telling me that he would probably be in the city Saturday, Aug. 25, and that he would call and see the child. The letter also inclosed the amount of the babe's board. The postmark on the letter was Milwaukee and the communication was written on hotel paper.

"When I received the letter I called at St. Ann's Asylum and asked for the child. They told me there was no such child there, and that if there was I could not see it. This morning I called on Chief of Police Harrigan, and after hearing my story he referred me to Mayor Walbridge. I must get that child before its father gets back," concluded Mrs. Weisel.

Mayor Walbridge promised to have the police inquire into the case and said that he could do nothing until he had received an official report of the facts in the case.

A POPULIST FUSION.

St. Clair County Democrats Excited Over a Rumor.

The Populist leaders of St. Clair County are greatly excited over reports to the effect that there is a movement on foot among members of one faction of the Democracy looking toward a fusion, and that certain prominent Populists are in the rumored deal. L. A. Quellmalz of Belleville, Chairman of the Populist Congressional Committee, and the recognized leader of the party in the county, claims to have information that a quiet effort has been made to sidetrack the Populist candidates for a fusion with the Baker wing of the Democracy, and he accuses John Lupton of Lebanon, the Populist candidate for County Judge, of being responsible. Mr. Quellmalz claims that Lupton, who was Chairman of the County Convention, refuses to certify the nomination of the Populist candidates, and that unless they are renominated they will have no place on the election tickets. He has therefore decided to call another convention for next Friday to renominate all the candidates except Lupton. C. T. Gibson, a young attorney of East St. Louis, will probably be nominated for county judge.

ANDERSON ALL RIGHT.

Report That He Was Scalded by a Geyser, Untrue.

A report being received this morning that Lorenzo E. Anderson of the real estate firm of Anderson-Wade, who is touring Yellowstone Park with a party of friends, had been severely scalded by the sudden bursting forth of a new geyser, Mr. Vestus J. Wade telegraphed for information and received the following reply:

MAMMOTH HOT SPRINGS, Wyo., Aug. 24.
MAMMOTH HOT SPRINGS HOTEL.

DEMOCRATS AT EXCELSIOR.

Object of That Mysterious Visit Now Satisfactorily Explained.

In connection with the visit of Messrs. Cook, Sherwood and Zevely to the Excelsior Springs Convention last week, the story is in circulation that they went there to do what they could in a quiet way to encourage the nomination of Mr. Joseph Flory for Railroad Commissioner. The Democrats took a different view of this canvass from that taken by the Republicans. They regarded Ben Grist of Springfield as a more formidable man than Flory before the people, and when they reached Excelsior Springs they allowed the report to be quietly spread that they were there to beat Flory. The ruse had the desired effect; Flory's friends took the alarm and buckled to work with renewed energy, and the result is known. Now the members of the Democratic State Committee smile very complacently when the incident of that Democratic visit is referred to. Why they look upon Flory as an easier man than Grist to beat is another story, and will come out later on.

Assistant City Counselor W. P. Macklin says he is not grooming Judge E. A. Noonan for the Court of Correction. "I talked with the ex-Mayor about it recently," said Mr. Macklin, "and he said he was not at liberty to enter politics for a year or two, even if he were so disposed, and I am satisfied that he meant it. But up there in the Sixteenth the Democrats want a resident of the ward to represent them in the Central Committee. Of course it is of no use to go to the committee with a complaint; no outsiders are allowed to be heard; but the boys are tired of the domination of Brady. I suppose there will be an opposition to his continuance as the representative of the ward by proxy, but I cannot tell just yet how it will come about."

Fourth Ward Francis League.

The Fourth Ward Francis League was organized last night with the following officers: President, John J. Reardon; Secretary, D. McCarthy; Treasurer, Walter Burke; Sergeant-at-Arms, Joe Rabbitt; Executive Committee—Frank J. Lacey, Nic Carroll, John O'Neil, P. Darcey, Felix Keating, J. McCaffery and Jas. P. Darcey.

Twenty-Fourth Ward Democrats.

An enthusiastic Democratic meeting was held last night under the auspices of the Twenty-fourth Ward Democratic Club at McFerrin's Hall, Colman and North Market streets. Notwithstanding the threatening weather, the hall was comfortably filled. Speeches were made by Major O. F. Guthrie, Judge E. M. Vance, S. P. Bond and others.

CORA RUTHERFORD.

A Refuge Girl Who Was Deserted by Her Father.

Pretty Cora Rutherford, 16 years of age, was released from the House of Refuge this morning by Mayor Walbridge. Her father sent a ticket to Lafayette, Ind., to the Wabash agent in St. Louis. It is the first time the girl has heard from her father for two years, and a strange story is told as to the cause of his disappearance and prolonged silence.

About three years ago, it is said that Rutherford, who was a well-to-do carpenter living near the Fair Grounds, married a woman whom he believed to be a widow. Cora Rutherford lived with her father and his wife. About eight months after the marriage had taken place, she informed her father that a man who claimed to be her step-mother's husband was coming to the house frequently. Her father investigated the story and found it to be true. He left St. Louis, leaving his daughter with the woman, and until yesterday Cora Rutherford supposed that he was dead.

When the woman learned that Rutherford had left she made home very unpleasant for the young girl and Cora left home. She returned, however, and through the efforts of the woman was placed in a charitable institution, but the managers said that she was incorrigible and had her committed to the House of Refuge. She was released after a short time, however, and went to live with Mrs. Lena Brothers of 1715 North Broadway. Mrs. Brothers, however, said that the girl was too fond of several youths who lived in the neighborhood and sent her back to the House of Refuge. After that the girl was sent to several families, but no one would keep her because of her alleged wild ways. She was indentured once, but was soon returned.

She was overjoyed to learn that her father had sent for her, and said that it was easy to be good in a small town, especially when she had her father to advise her. She will leave for Lafayette, Ind., to-night.

FOUND DEAD IN BED.

John Rowe Dissovered a Corpse by E. F. Golden This Morning.

John Rowe, 25 years old, a butcher, with no settled place of abode, was found dead in bed at the residence of Mrs. Thomas Ryan, 4525 Evans avenue, at 11:30 a. m. to-day. He was found by E. T. Golden, who lives at the same number. Rowe stopped at the place last night. An inquest will be held to determine the cause of death.

SERIOUS CHARGE.

Walter H. Scott Arrested for Opening a Friend's Letter.

Walter Harry Scott, alias Walter Scott White, was arrested to-day on a warrant issued by United States Commissioner Crawford, charging him with opening a letter addressed to J. C. Deerey. White waived preliminary hearing and gave $500 bond for his appearance at the next term of the United States District Court. George Hoefner was his security. The Federal authorities say that the correct name of the accused is Walter Harry Scott, although he is known as White at 2641 Washington avenue, where he and Deery boarded. Deery borrowed some money from Scott and promised to repay it as soon as he received a remittance from the East. Deery moved to 2615 Olive street, but his mail continued to be delivered at 2641 Washington avenue. He received a letter on Aug. 14, which appeared to have been opened and resealed. Scott is charged with having opened the letter and closed it when he saw it did not contain the expected remittance.

Held for the Grand-Jury.

Walter Hurley, charged with robbing the Post-office at Cowlington, I. T., was held in $7,500 bail yesterday at Ft. Smith, Ark., to await the action of the Grand-Jury.]

YET IN DOUBT.

Will President Cleveland Sign the New Tariff Bill?

Large Number of Democrats Calling at the White House.

ALL ANXIOUS TO KNOW THE PRESIDENT'S INTENTIONS.

No Definite Information Could Be Secured From the Close-Mouthed Chief Executive, However—General Impression the Measure Will Become a Law by the Time Limit—Resolutions for Sine Die Adjournment of Congress—Senate Programme.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—A large number of the Democratic Congressmen in the city have called at the White House since the President's return for the purpose of gaining definite information from Mr. Cleveland as to his intention with respect to the tariff bill. Many of them have urged him to sign it and all are anxious to know what will be done, many of them in order to arrange plans for the interim of adjournment until the reassembling of Congress, and some in order that they may advise constituents whose business will be affected by tariff legislation.

Among those who saw President Cleveland to-day were Representative Sayers of Texas, Chairman of the Appropriation Committee, and Representative Catchings of Mississippi, a member of the Rules Committee. Neither secured definite information from Mr. Cleveland as to his intentionlons with respect to the tariff bill, though each came away with the impression that Congress would have to remain here until Tuesday, on which day the new tariff bill will go into effect. The President adheres to his intention to permit it to become a law without his signature.

Senators to-day reached an agreement about procedure in the Senate. Senator Harris, representing the Democratic side, and Senator Manderson, representing the Republican, had an understanding before the Senate met to-day. The arrangement was for the Senate to immediately go into executive session and clear up all nominations possible. Some of the contested nominations are to go over, which is equivalent to rejection, as reappointment is required if the President desires to retain the candidates in office. After the executive calendar is cleared up, the Senate is to consider bills to which there is no objection in open session, but no other business is to be taken up. The agreement also remains that no speeches are to be made. This is one of the points the Senate has been contending for. The bill to amend the alcohol schedule is not to be considered.

IN EXECUTIVE SESSION.

The Senate Wore a Very Deserted Appearance—House Proceedings.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 24.—The prayer of the Chaplain was the only business transacted by the Senate to-day before going into executive. Not even the journals of yesterday and the day before were read, the reading having been dispensed with at the suggestion of Mr. Harris (Dem.) of Tennessee.

If possible the Senate wore a more deserted aspect than on yesterday and the day before, despite the fact that one Republican, Mr. Higgins, and two Democrats, Messrs. Camden and Butler, had returned.

Mr. George asked and obtained indefinite leaves of absence for his colleague, Mr. McLaurin, on account of serious illness in his family, and then Mr. Harris, without testing the presence of a quorum, moved that the Senate proceed to consideration of executive business. This was agreed to and at 12:05 p. m. the Senate went into executive session.

At 12:55 p. m. the Senate adopted the House resolution providing for an adjournment sine die on Tuesday at 2 o'clock.

The Senate, behind closed doors, agreed to a motion to adjourn from to-day until Monday.

PROCEEDINGS IN THE HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—Immediately after the reading of the journal to-day Mr. Catchings (Dem., Miss.) from the Committee on Rules offered a joint resolution for a sine die adjournment next Tuesday, the 28th inst., at 2 o'clock. It was adopted without division.

Mr. Catchings then moved that when the House adjourns to-day it be to meet on Monday next. This was also agreed to.

WAR DEPARTMENT CHANGE.

Department of the Platte to Be Abolished.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 24.—An interesting item of news comes from the War Department to the effect that it is proposed to abolish the department of the Platte with headquarters at Omaha and establish a new department with headquarters at Savannah, Ga., transferring the officers of the Platte to the new department and annexing Fort Crook to the Department of the Missouri.

The news is denied at the War Department, but it is known to be well founded, the intention being to carry the change into effect some time late in the fall.

Missouri Postmasters.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 24.—Postmasters appointed to-day in Missouri were: Greenville, Wayne County, J. H. Settle, vice S. D. Manning, removed; Lake, St. Louis County, Anna W. Schaeper, vice Wm. Heaze, removed; Tedieville, Pettis County, Wm. McDaniel, vice C. J. Jones, resigned.

Named for Place.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—The President to-day sent to the Senate the following nominations:

Postmasters—John W. Ryland, San Jose, Cal.

Treasurer—James Daugherty, Surveyor of Customs, Peoria, Ill.

State—Robert J. MacBryde of Wisconsin, to be Consul of the United States at Leith, Scotland.

Gen. French to Speak.

Brig.-Gen. French and his wife, of the Salvation Army, will speak at the De Hodiamont Camp Meeting to-night. A large crowd attended the army services to-day notwithstanding the rain.

Held for the Grand-Jury.

James Kenner was held in $500 bond by Judge Claiborne to-day. He is accused of holding up Robert Jones on the Levee, near Market street, last Sunday night.

CHANCE FOR PLACES.

The Collection of the Income Tax Will Make Room for Office-Seekers.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 24.—The collection of the income tax, provided for in the tariff bill, will necessitate the appointment of a large number of deputy revenue collectors. They will be employed to supervise the assessment and collection of the income tax. They will be stationed at the sixty-three internal revenue offices throughout the country, and their salaries will range from $1,000 to $2,000 a year. In sparsely settled communities, where only a limited number of persons pay the income tax, the duties will be light, and in such localities the minimum salary will be paid. The maximum salary of $2,000 will be given to deputy collectors in the larger cities, particularly in New York, Boston, Chicago, Philadelphia, Washington and other metropolitan centers.

The appointments will be for four years and an effort will be made to bring the employes within the operation of the civil service law, so that dismissals shall result only for cause, and the service thus secure a better grade of officials. The deputies of the deputy collectors will require a certain knowledge of business, such, for example, as a familiarity with accounts, so that the officer may readily detect fraudulent entries in the papers submitted to him for his inspection. It is said, however, that a person competent to fill the office of city or county assessor will be qualified for a deputy collectorship. The appointments will be made about Jan. 1, and the money for the service will be appropriated next December if Congress fails to act at this session. An allowance for traveling expenses will be made where such expenses are necessary.

The deputy collectors will have full authority to familiarize themselves with the private business affairs of any persons whom they suspect of having made a false return of their income. But the knowledge thus gained must be regarded as strictly confidential. The law upon this point is very explicit. It states specifically that it shall be unlawful for any person representing the Government in the collection or handling of this tax to make known in any manner whatsoever to any person "the operations, style of work, or apparatus of any manufacturer or producer visited by him in the discharge of his official duties, or the amount of or source of income, profits, losses, expenditures, or any particular thereof disclosed in any income return by any person or corporation."

The law further states—and this may be regarded as a blow at newspaper enterprise—that it shall be also unlawful for any person to publish in any manner whatever not provided by law, any income return or the amount or sources of income, profits, losses or expenditures appearing in any income return. Any offense of this character shall be regarded as a misdemeanor, and be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment not exceeding one year, or both; at the discretion of the court. On the other hand, if the defendant be an officer or employe of the United States, he shall be dismissed from office and be incapable thereafter of holding any place of honor or responsibility under the Government.

SHE WAS STUPEFIED.

Mary Austin Lamb Taken Sick on a Train This Morning.

Shortly before the 8 o'clock Baltimore & Ohio train left the Union Depot this morning a woman passenger took sick. Conductor McMahon, assisted by Officer Corcoran, carried her out to an ambulance and she was removed to the City Hospital. She appeared stupified as though she might have been drugged, and did not give intelligent replies to questions asked. By the time she reached the City Hospital she had recovered somewhat, and said that her name was Mary Austin Lamb and that she was 18 years old. She said that she arrived at the Union Depot this morning over the Iron Mountain road and was on her way home to Washington, Ind., from Malvern, Ark., where she had been visiting an aunt, Mary Donnelly, for the past three weeks. Dr. Marks could not tell what she was suffering of at first examination, and wired her father.

At the depot she gave her name to the police as Mary Austin. She first said that she was from Malvern, and then said that she came from Washington, Ind., last night and stopped in the city all night, but did not state where.

A GIRL'S RASH ACT.

Commits Suicide Because Her Parents Crossed Her Love Affair.

BELTON, Mo., Aug. 24.—Rosa Porter, the 18-year-old daughter of John Porter, near here, killed herself with a pistol. The shot took effect in her left breast. She never spoke after committing the deed.

She left a note to her parents, saying that she loved a young man by the name of Knapp and that the deed was done because they objected to her keeping company with him. She wanted to accompany him to the Fair now goingon here and when her parents refused consent she retired to her room and shot herself.

An Iowa Druggist's Suicide

IN HIS OWN DEFENSE.

Pastor Gurr at Warsaw Answers the Rumors in Circulation About Him.

WARSAW, Ill., Aug. 24.—The threatened scandal in St. Paul's Church reached a climax last night. The pastor, Rev. H. The church has taken no action and it is supposed that the trouble has all been settled.

Summary of What the Present Congress Has Done.

Excerpt From a Speech in the Congressional Record by McMillin.

SEMI-OFFICIAL SHOWING MADE FROM A POLITICAL STANDPOINT.

Repeal of All Force Laws and Elections Left Free—Victory After Many Years' Struggle—Law Authorizing the President to Levy and Remit Taxes Stricken Out—Taxing of Currency—Other Work Accomplished.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 24.—Representative McMillin (Dem.) of Tennessee has inserted in the Congressional Record a speech intended as a summary of what the present Congress has accomplished. Mr. McMillin's associates have deferred to him in preparing this statement, and it is a semi-official showing from a political standpoint of what the majority has done. After reviewing what laws it has heretofore framed, Mr. McMillin says:

"I come to a few things it has done during this administration. It has repealed all force laws and left elections free. It found a system of oppressive laws on the statute books authorizing the use of troops at the polls and has repealed them. In the dark days of the Republic the Republican party also enacted a law authorizing the United States Supervisors of Elections and Deputy Marshals to be appointed by the Federal courts, wholly independent of the States, where the elections were to be held. They were expected to dominate the elections. Thousands of men were arrested without cause and imprisoned within the States of New York, Ohio and Indiana in a single election and imprisoned to prevent them from voting. They were turned out after it was too late to vote without the formality of indictment, presentment, arraignment or trial. The Democratic party determined this should not continue. To effect its repeal it forced an extra session of Congress in 1879 and passed the repeal bill. Mr. Hayes vetoed it. But it has kept up the fight nearly a sixth of a century and at last has triumphed during this administration.

LEVYING AND REMITTING TAXES.

"It has repealed the law authorizing the President to levy and remit taxes. It cannot conceive of a surrender of a great prerogative more dangerous and unpardonable than this. We denounced it at the time in this hall. We went forth to the people and denounced it. We pledged them in our platform that if intrusted with power we would take this ancient right from the President and give it back to the people's representatives. We have now kept the promise.

TAXING OF CURRENCY.

"This Congress has also authorized the States to tax greenbacks and other United States currency. For years the exemption of these has been a crying ill. The law authorizing the issue of greenbacks and the Treasury warrants under the Sherman act exempted them from State, county and municipal taxation. Hundreds of millions thereby escaped all taxation. Individuals escaped it by having their funds in bank nominally invested in greenbacks or Treasury warrants on the day for assessment. Banks accomplished the same object in the same way. No doubt can exist that in some banks the United States warrants were placed to the credit of more individuals on the day for assessment to escape municipal and State taxes. It is also charged that certain banks would aid each other in different States by changing their treasury warrants deposits from one to the other to suit the different days for assessment existing in different States. All this is stopped now. Under the bill introduced and passed by the gentleman from Indiana (Mr. Cooper) all United States currency heretofore escaping taxation will be reached by the tax-gatherer. United States Treasury warrants, known as greenbacks, and the bills issued under the Sherman bill amount to a large sum, and the country owes him a debt of gratitude for his patriotic exertion."

Mr. McMillin next reviews the reduction of appropriations heretofore set forth by Representative Sayres of the Appropriation Committee. He then continues:

LAW AGAINST TRUSTS.

"It has passed the most stringent law against trusts ever enacted in this country. At the same time the Attorney-General has instituted proceedings in the courts to try to dissolve illegal trusts. The amendment offered by the Senator from Alabama (Mr. Morgan) carried into law the most effective means ever yet devised for controlling and curbing the power of trusts. A law against them was passed last Congress, but it dealt with the question in a manner so mild that it has not been found sufficient to crush these combinations that have been fostered under protection. The Democratic party was pledged to the enactment of more stringent legislation against trusts. It has kept this pledge and offers this as the fulfillment.

"It has inaugurated an income tax, thereby taking taxes off want and putting them on wealth. It is true the Senate amendments have changed somewhat this feature of the bill and have released some that ought to have been taxed; still it remains a great benefit to the American people. It found the treasury bankrupt and by the tariff bill is not only replenishing it, but at the same time reducing taxes."

Mr. McMillin then reviews the repeal of the Sherman silver law and gives an elaborate summary of the tariff.

WRIGHT'S PULLMAN PASS.

Rumors Connected With the Strike Commission Chairman to Be Inquired Into.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 24.—Carroll D. Wright, chairman of the Commission to investigate the Pullman strike, is said to be one of a small number of men who has been favored with a frank to ride on a Pullman car.

Mr. Wright a few years ago published a report holding the Pullman company up as a model industrial concern and has ever since been kept supplied with free traveling passes. It is rumored in this connection that he traveled on his pass in a Pullman car to Chicago to begin his investigation and the charge is creating such a sensation here that the question may be officially inquired into.

Deficiency Bill Signed.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 24.—The President to-day signed the general deficiency appropriation bill, the last of the appropriation bills of the session.

FUTURITY FIELD.

Probable Starters in To-Morrow's Rich 2-Year-Old Stake.

ITS VALUE ESTIMATED AT BETWEEN $60,000 AND $70,000.

Butterflies the Most Fancied of Gideon & Daly's Three Entries—Millionaire Rupert's Candidates—Grand Circuit Cycling Races—Players Protest Against Dirty Ball—The Sprinters of the League—Sporting News.

The Futurity, the most valuable stake event of the year, will be run over a course of about six furlongs at the Sheepshead Bay track to-morrow. This event will be worth between $60,000 and $70,000, and with such inducement for them to start, it can be readily seen why to-morrow's field will include the pick of the season's 2-year-olds. The Commoner and Gotham, who have both shown high class, are not entered, but they are about the only two good ones who will be missing when the bugle calls the field to the post. Gideon & Daly will be represented by a trio of speedy youngsters, in Butterflies, a filly, and Waltzer and Keenan, two colts. Butterflies is thought to be the fastest of the bunch and it is understood that she will go to the post the stable's choice for finishing first. Waltzer is very inconsistent and Keenan, like his brother, Patron, does well in his work, but fails to run fast enough to win when sent to the post. The millionaire brewer, Jacob Ruppert, Jr., will have two starters in Manchester and Counter Tenor. Manchester has worked six furlongs in 1:16½, while his stable companion covered the route in 1:15 flat. Counter Tenor is the stable's pet, however, and with Garrison in the saddle, Mr. Ruppert makes no secret of the fact that he would prefer to win with this colt. Marcus Daly's expectations are pinned to the filly, Sadie, while Pierre Lorillard relies upon his filly, Liza. Both have shown only ordinary form. Agitator will carry the Keene colors and Dr. Knapp's one stable will have two bows to its string in Doggett and the filly California. Charles Littlefield's hopes are with Connoisseur. Louis Stuart will be represented in the race by Monaco and the Morrisses may send Gutta Percha to the post. According to the latest information from New York, the probable field will be as follows:

Horses.	Jockeys.	Horses.	Jockeys.
Butterflies	Griffin.	Sadie	Midgley.
Waltzer	J. Reagan.	Connoisseur	Sims.
Keenan	Martin.	Doggett	Ballard.
Counter Tenor	Garrison.	California	Doggett.
Manchester	Lamley.	Monaco	Hamilton.
Gutta Percha	Littlefield.	Agitator	Taral.
Liza	Perkins.

The previous winners of the Futurity will be found below:

In connection with the Futurity, which is attracting so much attention in the turf world right now, it might be mentioned that Oliver Belmont's Brandywine, an own brother to Potomac, has been doing very well in his work of late, and may be started in the big event at Sheepshead Bay to-morrow. Mr. Belmont's father, the late August Belmont, won the third Futurity race with Potomac and it would certainly be quite a coincidence if the younger Mr. Belmont were to win the event this season with an own brother to Potomac. Brandywine has been at Saratoga in charge of Byron McClelland. He went six furlongs in 1:15½ in good style the other morning. Jimmy Rowe, who trained Potomac for the late August Belmont, will decide whether or not it would be advisable to start Brandywine on to-morrow. The Belmonts have unlimited confidence in Rowe's judgment regarding the capabilities of a thoroughbred.

Horse owners who wish to "hog the game," as the saying goes, received a shock at Jerome Park Monday, writes Black and Blue. Barney Murray, said to have been the owner of Pontiac at one time, thought he would get hold of a few race horses at a cheap price, and accordingly, after Arab had won the first race at Jerome Park, he started in to bid for him. Arab had been entered at $500, although he is easily worth five times that amount. Murray kept on bidding until $800 was reached. Then he stopped and Mr. Forbes, by offering $5 more, retained his horse. Later in the day Mr. Murray saw that Armitage, which cost Mr. Croker $6,000, was entered to be sold for $500. Mr. Murray scented a bargain and set about bidding at a very lively rate. It cost Mr. Croker just $1,205 to keep Armitage in his stable.

Clem Creveling, since his experience in the stand with the runners, has lost much of his loyalty to the trotters. At Washington Park the other day he remarked to Starter McCarthy that he would like to see an assistant go up the track and help assign positions and assist in making more even scoring. Besides, Creveling thinks now that seventy-five yards is far enough to score in. The long delays consequent upon injury to sulky, broken harness, etc., worry the official after having a taste of the rapidity with which accidents to jockeys, surcingles, stirrup straps, etc., are repaired on running tracks.

Among the Trotters.

At the Chicago trotting meeting yesterday the great Directum did no better than 2:10¾ in his trial against time. The track and weather were all that could be desired. The chief feature of the afternoon was the victory of John R. Gentry in the 2:08 pace in straight heats. The time was the fastest of the meeting—2:07¾, 2:07¾, 2:08.

A new rigging to prevent a horse from breaking consists of a rope fastened to the forearm of each leg, running up to a pulley on a spring fastened to the bit, with a safety strap around the neck. When the horse trots or paces the ropes work smoothly on the pulley; when he runs, both feet coming to the ground at the same instant, nearly jars his head off. After a few attempts the animal is afraid to break and will go as steady as a clock in the majority of instances.

At Monticello, Ill., yesterday there was an exciting scene at 5 p. m., when the last heat in the 2:35 class race was being contested. Chanceit, the winner of the 2:00 class pace on Tuesday, soon after passing the wire fell dead from a ruptured blood vessel. He was by Old Pilot Medium, and belonged to E. A. Nee of Valparaiso, Ind., who valued him at $2,000.

Track Talk.

Jockey Van Kuren has severed his connection with the Santa Anita Stable, which accounts for Reagan having the mount on Rey El Santa Anita at Saratoga Wednesday.

A fifteen-day running meeting is to be held at Saugus near Boston, Mass., commencing Sept. 3. It is understood that J. J. Burke will preside in the stand and J. F. Caldwell will do the starting.

Riley Grannan, the plunging young Kentucky bookmaker, is said to have lost $35,000 at Saratoga during the past three days. Notwithstanding this heavy set back, it is claimed he is still ahead of the meeting.

Gottlieb Walbaum persuaded Ed Corrigan to send a string of horses to Saratoga, and is preparing to return the compliment by sending a good lot West to contest for money hung up by Hawthorne and Harlem.

D. A. Boyle had the misfortune to lose his 2-year-old filly, My Favorite, at Saratoga the other morning. She was working on the old track at Horsehaven, when she ran out, and in attempting to jump the fence she broke her neck.

B. F. Fly, Jr., has purchased from L. A. Legg the colt that bears his name. Ben has been loyal to his namesake all through this season, and no horse has been beaten by an eyelash any oftener than he.—[Chicago exchange.

Racing will begin at Providence, R. I., Oct. 1 and continue till Nov. 15. The purses will be $400 and $500 apiece. As the State Fair Association will give a trotting meeting Sept 17 to 22, the stables will not be open for the thoroughbreds until Sept. 27.

Ballard will wear the Oneck Stable's colors in the Futurity. He was engaged before young Charles Littlefield tried to secure him for Connoisseur. Martin will have the mount on Keenan. J. W. Rogers wanted Martin to ride one of his entries in the big race.

Speaking of his enforced retirement Jockey McDermott says: "There are two or three fashionable jockeys who are always getting the other boys into trouble. If they bump into you you are sure to get the worst of it. People have asked me why I have not thrashed some of the other jockeys for lying about me. I hit Sims once and was fined $100 for it, although I was clearly in the right."

GOSSIP OF THE GAME.

Players Will Ask for Legislation Against Rowdyism—Sprinters of the League.

The movement against dirty ball playing and disreputable conduct on the ball field has its strongest advocates among the more respectable players, who will in all probability ask the League to legislate with the view of eliminating rowdyism from the game. The better class of professionals are opposed to the practices from principle, but they know that the life of the game depends upon its purity and freedom from objectionable features. If the game prospers the players will prosper. Joe Quinn was right when he said that "a great gang of hod-carriers would be turned loose in the world if professional base ball should die out." There is but one way to stop the disgraceful scenes which have occurred year after year during League games, and that is to blacklist one or more of the rowdies. Base ball can get along without that class of players better than they can without base ball, and if they learn that rowdyism will not be tolerated they will become as meek as lambs.

There is something behind Jack Glasscock's release by the Pittsburg Club. "Scrappy" Jack's batting has been below his standard for some time, but it is hardly probable that Buckenburger, who held on to Jake Beckley when he could not hit a balloon last season, would let the great shortstop go on that account. Glasscock has been one of the characters of the diamond. No player has more enemies and but few more admirers. Always ready to resort to dirty ball to turn a trick it mattered little to him whether he broke an opponent's leg, spiked him in the face or injured him in some other way so badly that he would be out of the game for months. Jack has been hooted in every city of the League circuit. His brilliant playing has compelled applause from those who despise him and his methods. Everything has been said about Glasscock except that he can't play ball. It has been long an open question if the effects of the disorganizing practices he introduced into every club he has been connected with did not more than offset his good playing. It is but fair to say that Glasscock has never been accused of stirring up strife or forming a clique in the Pittsburg Club. He is a great favorite with the Pittsburg cranks, who threaten to boycott the games unless "Scrappy Jack's" release is recalled. Glasscock's days as a League player are not over, and his statement that he intends to put a team in Wheeling, his native place, next season is not credited.

The St. Louis club has two of the fastest sprinters in the profession in Dowd and Hogan. Cooley is also very speedy. For a long time Tommie Dowd has had the reputation of being the fastest straightaway runner in the League, but since the advent of young Martin Hogan, there are some who doubt the claim. Ex-Secretary Munson said yesterday there was a strong probability of Dowd and Hogan being matched for a 100-yard race to settle the vexed question. Among the other fast men in the League are Elmer Smith and Capt. Donovan of Pittsburg, Tom Brown of Louisville, Tommy McCarthy and Jimmie Bannon of Boston, Hamilton of Philadelphia and Long of Baltimore. George Munson is confident that Dowd can outsprint any of them, and Tommie agrees with George.

Speaking of two Minneapolis players who were great favorites while with the Browns, a Milwaukee exchange says: "Jack Crooks and his right bower, Perry Werden, are two of the greatest kickers in the business. They act like men who have been used to driving mule cars." It seems that the two men have not lost their individuality. Both Perry and Jack are confident that they will be back in the League next season. Billie Barnie of the Louisville's thinks well of both, and Schmelz of the Washington Club could find a place for them. Werden is a better man than Cartwright and Crooks is an improvement on "Piggy" Ward or any other bluff of a second baseman the Senators have had this season.

Yesterday's Games.

Hawley's superb work in the box and a home run drive by Miller when the bases were full enabled the Browns to down Kid Gleason and the other Orioles yesterday. This is the first game the Browns have won at Baltimore this season. Clean hitting earned seven of the Browns' ten runs. The scores:

	Pitcher.	R.	B.H.	E.
St. Louis	Hawley	10	17	2
Baltimore	Gleason	6	7	5
New York	Rusie	8	14	3

The League Race.

The standing of the League clubs at noon to-day was as follows:

Base Ball Notes.

Joe Quinn was the only one of Gleason's old clubmates who did not get a hit off him yesterday. Joe accepted eight fielding chances without an error.

Dowd and Miller had no trouble in smashing the Kid's curves. Each made four hits. One of Miller's was a home run and Tommie had a triple, which was really a home run, but Betts decided that a ball batted in the bleachers is not a home run on the Baltimore grounds.

The Senators are now out of the last place in the race. Poor old Colonels.

Long and Duffy have rejoined the Bostons. Long made three errors in seven chances yesterday.

Dumont, who was given a trial at shortstop by Pittsburg, has been released.

McGunnigle will probably manage Brooklyn next season.

The Quakers are after all the League records. They made a new one last week, when six double plays occurred in a game, and their thirty-six base hits, with a total of fifty, make the greatest number of the season.

All of the Brooklyn players say that in the game in which Stratton of the Chicagos pitched, he put up such a slow ball that they could count the stitches on it, but somehow could not connect with it.—[New York Sun.

Among the Amateurs.

The George Diel & Bros. play the crack Rivals of Chicago next Sunday at Burlington, Io.

The J. L. Hudsons and the crack club of Washington, Mo., will play at the Pastimes' grounds next Sunday afternoon.

The Ponca Indians will play the Meyers at Compton Avenue Park to-morrow and Sunday.

The Young Nationals would like to hear from all 17-year-old teams for Sunday and other dates. Address John Muehling, Manchester and Vandeventer avenues.

CIRCUIT CYCLING RACES.

Records Will Be Smashed by the Cracks—Arrangements Completed.

Reports from Kansas City augur most promisingly for a fine exhibition of racing to-morrow at the Pastime track, and wheelmen say that those who miss it will have to regret it. All the men are in exceptionally good trim. A meeting of the associated clubs was held yesterday at which the finishing touches were put on the meet, and, as an indication of the expected throng of spectators, 5,000 extra programmes were ordered, which will be distributed free. All the class A events have been well filled and a total of seventy-eight individual entries have been received. Eddie Grath is riding like a streak of greased lightning and speculation is rife over the outcome of the races in which he and Cabanne will compete. In Cabanne are centered the hopes of his St. Louis admirers to down the Eastern cracks, and his thorough acquaintance with the track should give him a big advantage.

The mile open race, in which special prizes of $50 diamonds are hung up for the man leading at the first two laps, will unquestionably be the race of the day, and it will be for blood, too, as both Cabanne and Grath have set their hearts on winning it. A dark horse among the novices will surprise the talent, as reliable timers have clocked his practice miles in 2m. 32s. In the handicap events the big fields of starters will be a feature, and to prevent accidents a special rule will be enforced which will disqualify any rider who looks around while racing. Starter Conkling and Clark Emery have consented to act, and this will insure prompt starts and no long delays between the races. The track is in tip-top condition and riders who rode at Denver say that it is a few seconds faster than the new track at that city. The prize list is the finest ever offered in St. Louis. Three new features have been added to the programme as follows: Cabanne's attempt at the records, Sid Black's marvelous exhibition of fancy and trick riding and an invitation race.

Racing will start at 2:30 p. m., sharp, and a band concert will be given commencing at 1 p. m. Tickets can be procured at all the agencies and at the gate, and reserved seats can be obtained of Secretary Laing, 1728 Olive street.

PASTIMES' RACES.

No Postponement If It Clears Up at Noon.

Julian Laughlin of the Pastime Athletic Club said at 11 o'clock that the games and bicycle races to be given by his club at De Hodiamont this afternoon would not be postponed, if it cleared up by 2 o'clock.

"The rain has not made our track heavy. It sheds water like a duck's back, and is in good condition. If the rain continues, however, into the afternoon races will be postponed until Saturday, Sept. 2. If it is possible to go on with the races the programme will be carried out to the letter. The ladies' bicycle race will be a novelty."

"MIXED" WITH HIS MACHINE.

Jack McAuliffe, While Exhilarated, Falls Off His Bicycle.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—Jack McAuliffe, who is in training to fight Young Griffo on Monday night at Coney Island, was badly bruised and cut by falling off his bicycle at Gravesend last night. He ran into the fence of the Gravesend race track, and in the fall which followed mixed himself up generally with his machine. A great deal of money is wagered on McAuliffe to beat Griffo, and the exhilaration which is given as the cause of the accident so late in his training will interest his backers. It is said that this is not the first defection on the part of McAuliffe since his announcement that he had retired into the seclusion of strict and careful training, as well as absolute abstinence from stimulants.

THE AMERICA'S CUP.

Lonsdale Will Be the Next Challenger—Wales Irritated.

LONDON, Aug. 23.—The Yachtsman says that it learns, upon good authority, that the next challenge for the America's cup will be issued by the Earl of Lonsdale. Vanity Fair to-day says that it hears that the Prince of Wales was greatly annoyed at the failure on Saturday last to sail the match race between Britannia and Vigilant. It adds that when Mr. Gould boarded the Royal Yacht Osborne in order to explain matters, the Prince of Wales remarked in an irritated tone:

"Don't talk to me about centerboards. I know nothing about them."

Vigilant and Britannia.

LONDON, Aug. 24.—The Pall Mall Gazette publishes this afternoon a long review of the recent yachting contests, concluding as follows:

While making full allowance for the Britannia's advantages in her skipper and crew, so large a proportion as twelve to five victories in her favor seems to determine the question of the relative superiority of the inanimate portions of the Vigilant and Britannia in favor of Watson's hull and Batsey's sails.

To-Morrow's Cricket Game.

Messrs. Clinch and Dix will have the respective captaincy of the teams in to-morrow's cricket match at Forest Park. Messrs. Sanby and Hardy from Nottingham, England, and Mr. Bert Turner from London, who arrived in the city this week, will take part in the game. Following are the teams:

Mr. Clinch's team—F. W. Clinch, captain; F. F. Dougal, W. J. Price, A. E. Winsor, F. S. Roberts, F. Durrant, C. W. Irish, W. T. Moore, E. B. Findlow, H. S. Crosby, D. Simpson, H. Darby, W. O. May, Dr. F. W. Tanner, D. Q. Kennett, E. Sanby, F. Hardy.

Mr. Thomas Q. Dix's team—T. Q. Dix, Captain; Dr. A. Murray, Oscar Tolley, H. P. Farrington, B. Turner, G. Maclaine, C. F. Gammon, E. W. Stern, G. Townley, D. O. Ives, E. C. S. Hunt, W. M. Porteous, J. Brennan, E. F. Green, P. Weston, P. K. Stern, C. W. Neale.

Sporting Notes.

New articles have been signed for the Carver-Crosby shooting matches, Dr. Carver yielding to all of Crosby requests. The dates were also definitely agreed upon, and the matches will take place on Sept. 22, 23 and 24 at Compton Avenue Park.

The existing rowing clubs in Germany have appealed to the students throughout the empire to form university boat clubs in accordance with Emperor William's suggestion. The Berlin and Bonn University clubs, whose organization was announced several weeks ago, have given notice that they will compete for the Emperor's special prize at the German regatta next year.

Horace M. Leeds answers that as his challenge to Jack McAuliffe, backed up with $500, has not been accepted within the the thirty days, the limit of the time for its acceptance, he claims the lightweight championship and stands ready to fight all comers.

A London cablegram says that if Jack Skelly will post a forfeit to fight for £200 and a purse in the National Sporting Club, George Johnson will cover the money and arrange a match. Johnson will make a match with Solly Smith or Johnny Griffin upon the same terms.

Griffo, the Australian boxer, has surprised everyone who has met him previous to his signing a contract to box McAuliffe at the Seaside Athletic Club next Monday. From leading a very rapid life he has become a strict disciplinarian. He has reduced his weight considerably, looks hard and firm, and in another week he says he will be in condition to meet McAuliffe, no matter how good the condition of the lightweight champion.

Ed Fenner, champion bantamweight of the Pacific Coast, and Kid Lewis, champion bantamweight of the South, will fight to a finish at Galveston, Tex., next Saturday night for $200 and gate receipts.

George Dixon and Jerry Marshall, who claims the Australian featherweight championship, have been matched to fight to a finish at 119 pounds for $2,500 a side and the world's featherweight championship. No date for the battle has been selected yet, but each side has posted a forfeit of $1,000.

The Columbian Rod and Gun Club of East St. Louis will make an effort this fall to enforce the clause in the Illinois game laws which reads: "No game shall be killed and taken out of the State." Three game wardens will go on duty Sept. 13 and arrest hunters passing through Venice and East St. Louis on the way out of the State with game in their possession.

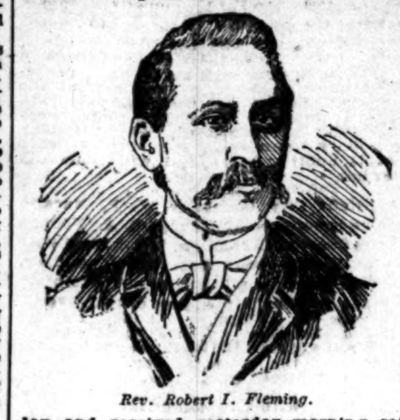

SICK AT SEATTLE.

Rev. Robert I. Fleming Afflicted With Typho-Malarial Fever.

HE WAS STRICKEN WHILE MAKING A TOUR OF THE WEST.

Programme for the Second Annual Convention of the St. Louis Christian Endeavor Union—Arrangements for the Celebration of the Feast of St. Louis—Religious Notes.

The sad news comes from Seattle, Wash., that Rev. Robert I. Fleming, pastor of Lindell Avenue M. E. Church, is very sick. He has typho-malarial fever, and is a patient in the Wesleyan Hospital. The first report of Dr. Fleming's illness was conveyed in a letter from a Methodist minister at Seattle. The member of Dr. Fleming's church who received the letter, wired for a bulletin as to the sick man's condition, and received a reply that he was resting easily. A second telegram sent at midnight Wednesday day and received yesterday morning said that Dr. Fleming had not improved and was likely to have an internal hemorrhage. This bulletin was taken to mean more than it said. Dr. Fleming left the city a few weeks ago as the guest of Mr. George W. Parker, the well-known railroad official and prominent in the affairs of Lindell Avenue Church. The party consisted of Mr. Parker, his two daughters and Rev. Dr. Fleming, and they traveled in Mr. Parker's private car. They visited Yellowstone Park and the other points of interest in the West, and then went to Seattle. It was their intention to cross the continent from west to east by way of the Canadian Pacific, pass through the White Mountains of New Hampshire, and then return home. Mr. Parker and his family remained with Dr. Fleming until he insisted that they proceed on their journey. They went North a short distance, with the intention of returning to Seattle.

Rev. Robert I. Fleming.

Christian Endeavor Convention.

The second annual convention of the Senior and Junior Christian Endeavor societies of the city will be held at First Christian Church, 3126 Locust street, on Friday afternoon and evening, Aug. 31. The afternoon session will begin at 2:45 o'clock, and will be presided over by Miss Kate H. Haus, President of the St. Louis Junior Union. Rev. John Weston of the North Presbyterian Church will speak of "The Christian Sculptor," which will be a lesson in chiseling or in character-making. "Something to Cry Over" will be the subject of an address by Miss L. Collins of Louisiana, Mo., who is to speak of temperance. "Good Brooms," by Mr. George Lubke, Jr., will be a good citizenship address. "A Pull All Together," by Mr. Wm. H. McClain, will be along the same line. A "Good Fellowship Hour" will intervene between the afternoon and evening programmes. The evening exercises will begin at 7:30 o'clock. Addresses will be made by Rev. M. Rhodes of St. Mark's English Evangelical Lutheran Church on "Impressions From the Thirteenth International Convention," and by Rev. E. B. Chappell of Lafayette Park Methodist Church on "Good Citizenship."

Y. M. C. A. Gospel Meeting.

The usual gospel meeting, Sunday at 4:30 o'clock, at the Central Branch of the St. Louis Young Men's Christian Association, Twenty-ninth and Pine streets, promises to be one of unusual interest to-morrow. The Arkansas Plantation Singers will make up a song service of thirty minutes, after which the Rev. Edward Mack, assistant pastor of the Central Presbyterian Church, will speak to young men, and the service close with selections by the Plantation singers.

Dr. Berle's Farewell.

Rev. A. A. Berle of Boston will preach in the First Presbyterian Church next Sunday morning upon the topic, "Home." In the evening his sermon will be upon "Christianity, Culture and Civic Virtue"—this being the fourth and last in his series of evening discourses upon the general theme, "Short Studies of Great Subjects."

Mr. Berle will leave for Boston on Monday morning, and next Sunday's sermons will therefore conclude his ministry in St. Louis for this summer.

Shea, McCaffery, Fitzpatrick, Cooney and Coyle. Rev. Fr. J. J. McCabe will preach a sermon suited to the occasion.

Priests' Retreat.

Half of the priests in the diocese of St. Louis will begin their annual retreat at Kenrick Diocesan Seminary next Monday night, by order of Archbishop Kain. The retreat will continue until the following Saturday. Very Rev. Fr. Malachy O'Callahan, C. M., of Ireland, will conduct the religious services.

WHY HE WAS DROPPED.

Patrolman Schweigler's Wife Accused Him of Intimacy With Other Women.

Michael Schweigler's ambition to become a policeman was suddenly nipped in the bud yesterday at the meeting of the Police Board. Schweigler formerly ran a saloon on the Levee near Anna street, but last June he closed it and made application for a position on the police force. On July 6 he was taken on probation.

About two weeks ago Attorney John W. Benstein notified the board that Schweigler was not supporting his wife. Investigation was made by Capt. Huebler and the truth of the statement verified. Schweigler in his own defense stated that his wife left him of her own accord and then made him so much trouble he had to close his saloon. His wife denied this and stated that from the time of their marriage Schweigler abused her; that he was in the habit of bringing lewd woman to his saloon and when she at length remonstrated he kicked her out of the house. Mrs. Schweigler's statement was corroborated by the testimony of other witnesses and Schweigler was dropped from the roll.

Among other things, Capt. Huebler's statement showed that Schweigler had been especially intimate with one Minnie Bickler. It was on account of this woman, it is claimed, that Mrs. Schweigler on June 18, 1893, waylaid her husband and threw vitriol in his face. He had her arrested for assault and battery, and while the case was pending she had him arrested for wife abandonment. A compromise was effected and both cases were dismissed on Sept. 15, 1893.

PAID HIS DRAFTS.

The Wool Merchants' Alarm About Matthews Was Unnecessary.

The scare among the wool commission merchants of St. Louis yesterday, over the reported failure of Matthews, a large Boston buyer, to pay their drafts, appears to have been groundless. Mr. C. F. Allen of No. 2 North Main street, who handles most of Matthews' orders, received a telegram from him this morning notifying him that all the drafts on him had been paid and that others would be paid on presentation. Mr. Allen said: "Matthews is not a broker as was reported, but is one of the largest and best known lawyers in the East. The tariff had nothing to do with the delay in paying drafts, as drafts for all wool bought under the old tariff had been paid, and those that payment was delayed on were for wool bought since the enactment of the new tariff. I also had a telegram from Matthews this morning to continue to buy for them. Matthews is all right, and the impression that he is not should be corrected, as it is an injustice to the St. Louis wool buyers.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS.

The Season Well Started at Some Theaters—New Attractions.

Commencing on next Saturday night the new St. Louis play, produced for the first time, will be put on at the Grand Opera-house. No plans have been spared to make "The Derby Winner" a success. With a good and well-trained cast it is expected that "The Derby Winner" will inaugurate in St. Louis a series of successes which will follow it throughout the season.

The merry musical farce-comedy hit, "4-11-44," will open Havlin's season on Saturday. The clever comedy firm, Rheta Menn and Wm. F. Carroll, surrounded by a list of such people as Norma Wills, Monte Collins, Emil Hasel, Thomas Wood, A. S. Wallin, Wm. F. Maxwell, Fanny Dudley, Daisy Dudley, Nannie Knight and Ineze Macky should make a farce-comedy go with a rush. Brilliant music is distributed throughout the entire play and consists of the latest gems from America's ablest composers.

The opening of Hagan's Theater has been a success, and in spite of the variable weather the houses have been good. "Mr. Barnes of New York," with Emily Rigl in the star part, has been extremely well received by the Hagan patrons. Miss Rigl is well supported throughout, and makes everything the author intended out of the part she plays.

Tony Farrell in his new play, "Garry Owen," which commences a week's engagement at the Hagan Sunday matinee, shows where hate and injustice are baffled by an Irish hero, who will be worthy of attention. The great prison scene and the escape to the roof of the ruined abbey, the leap for life 200 feet over the sea, the climbing hand over hand on a rope to the roof, is daring and effective, and then when Eily Aroon helps her lover to escape, proves a fact that when a woman loves no sacrifice is too great. "Garry Owen" is founded on an incident taken from a chapter of Irish life, and will prove a real treat to any witnessing it.

The Roof Garden and Casino on the top of the Union Trust Building presented for its bill this week additions in the shape of Miss Fannie Mead, the charming whistler who has made a great reputation in the East, and Charles Drew and Douglas Flint, well known to the St. Louis public, who appear in the well-arranged and carefully executed potpourri from the ever popular "Erminie." The Girards appear in a new act, Raymond Shaw in new ballads, Lottie West Symonds in new songs, with old favorites for encores, the Crescendos in their extraordinary exhibition of versatility, Sarina, O. W. Hall in new specialties and the American Quartette in new and delightful songs. The canopy which now covers the vaudeville stage was tested by the rain on Monday last and will enable the management to give a performance in any sort of weather which its patrons will care to venture out in. The bill for next week is a strong one and includes Luciano Tatali, the flying serpent; La Petit Freddie, comedian international; Phyllis Allen, phenomenal contralto; Marie Carr, popular balladist; Gertrude Reynolds, English song and dance; Weston sisters, musical prodigies; Quigley brothers, black-face artists; Filson and Errol in their incomparable act, entitled "Women vs. Men;" Fannie Mead, the enchanting whistler.

Irving Sandowe will open at Pope's Sunday afternoon. This announcement will draw thousands, as strong and perfectly formed athletes are all the rage at present and as Irving Sandowe has proved himself victorious in fourteen different contests with athletes from every part of the world, he is entitled to be termed the strongest man in the world. His photographs show him to be a fine-looking man and, near as we can judge by looking, a perfect specimen of manhood. Besides breaking wire straps by expansion of the lungs, juggling 150-pound dumb bells, lifting 100-pound weights with each little finger, laying down and holding a man on his hand, rising to an upright position, still holding the man on his hand, lifting a platform with a piano and men, the combined weight being over 2,000 pounds, he will be seen in a series of living statuary. His part of the programme lasting over a half hour.

In addition to Sandowe next week Col. Hopkins has introduced many strong novelties. "Myrtle Ferns," Jos. D. Clifton's play, will be the drama, in which the full strength of the stock company will be required. In the olio are Lewis and Paul, Chas. Diamond, Sep and Josie Earle Stuart, Edwin Lang and Viola Rosa and Katharine Braham.

"Faust" at Uhrig's Cave has been doing business to full houses this week, to say nothing of Treasurer Walters' benefit, which was a grand success. The cast is, as usual, a strong one, and the Cave promises to wind up its season with a crowning success. The presentation of "Faust" will continue through to Sunday night, when the farewell performance will be given at that popular resort.

There will be two grand displays of fireworks given at Sportsman's Park to-morrow afternoon and to-morrow night. In the afternoon day fireworks and balloons will be sent up. The evening display will be of night fireworks.

Officers Quigley and Dundon Dropped.

The Police Board at yesterday's session dismissed from the force Officers Michael Dundon and Thomas Quigley for conduct unbecoming gentlemen and members of the department. Quigley and Dundon, it will be remembered, had a fierce fight on the corner of Seventh street and Clark avenue on the night of Aug. 12, and were separated by Officers Cole and Heath. Cole used his club in subduing Quigley, it was charged, and afterwards talked back to Sergt. Boyd. He was cautioned for this. Officer Quigley's story was that Dundon had abused him for some time, and that on the night of the quarrel he decided to stand it no longer.

Patrolman Barney Regan of the Third District was cautioned for wearing citizen's clothes without permission. Probationary Patrolman Mike Schneigler of the Second District was dropped from the rolls.

The following transfers ordered: Policeman John Lusby, from the mounted to the Second District; John Lawton, from the Fourth to the Central; W. P. Flynn, from the Second to the Fourth; Jeremiah Crane, from the Fifth to the Central; J. E. Fitzgerald, from the Central to the Fifth District.

The wants of mankind, to hire and to wive,
To buy and to sell, to swap and thrive—
A list of them even the boldest daunts,
But they're named and filled in the P.-D. WANTS.

DIVORCES GRANTED.

Scores of Suits for Separation Commenced To-Day.

IS THE LAST DAY FOR SECURING ORDERS OF PUBLICATION.

Lydia E. Vincent Charges Robert J. Vincent With Unfaithfulness and Belle L. Manson Makes the Same Allegation Against Frederick L. Manson—News of the Civil Courts.

To-morrow will be the last day for securing orders of publication in civil cases to the October term of the Circuit Court and in consequence a long list of divorces appeared upon the docket to-day. In nearly every case the defendant has moved off to parts unknown, wherefore the plaintiff desires to give the due notice by publication in order to secure the necessary default.

Elsie Thompson Street wanted a divorce from Charles Frederick Street, to whom she was matrimonially allied in Jackson County, Mo., on July 9, 1892. She charges him with being a habitual drunkard and repeatedly abusing and beating her, both in Kansas City and St. Louis. There are no children. An order of publication is asked.

Lydia E. Vincent was married to Robert J. Vincent in St. Louis in February, 1892, and he deserted her Oct. 4 of the same year. She says her husband was unlawfully intimate with other women during their brief married life.

Belle L. Manson was married to Frederick L. Manson at Leavenworth, Kan., in August, 1888, and lived with him until July, 1894. She says he refused to support her and was criminally intimate with certain women in Wisconsin. She asks for a divorce and the restoration of her maiden name of Harding.

George M. Gabbert was married to Nancy Y. Gabbert on March 5, 1858, at Kickapoo, Kan., and lived with her as a model husband until October, 1892, when she deserted him. He says she had an ungovernable temper.

Robert C. Hardbarger was married to Mary A. Hardbarger at Hampton Sidney College, Prince Edwards Co., in the State of Virginia, on the 15th day of September, 1885. According to Hardbarger's story, while off on a business trip his wife sold all the household goods to the value of $2,000 and departed and will not return. He wants a divorce, but says nothing about their four little girls.

Emma L. Wood was married to William P. O. Wood on Dec. 23, 1886, and lived with him until November, 1893, when he deserted her.

Annie Mitchell charges her husband, Chas. Mitchell, with non-support, habitual drunkenness and desertion. They were married in May, 1887, and lived together until September of the same year.

Elijah Weybright was married to Sarah Weybright on March 27, 1861, in Douglas County, Kan. Since 1889 the wife has refused to live with him. He asks for a divorce.

William F. Irwin wanted to be divorced from Carrie F. Irwin, whom he married at Champaign, Ill., on Oct. 9, 1874. He charges desertion.

Frederick Barklage's Will.

The will of Frederick Barklage of 2953 Dickson street was probated to-day. He leaves all his household furniture, silverware, etc., to his daughter, Emma Barklage, along with $4,000 and the house and lot No. 1916 Bacon street. To his son, Edward Barklage, he leaves the two houses, 617 and 619 Morgan street, and the lot on which they are situated.

To his son, William Barklage, he leaves $10,000, to be paid in two payments. His son Louis Barklage is bequeathed the same amount, $10,000, to be paid as soon as it is possible. He also leaves to Louis, in trust for the other three children and himself, all of his mining stock, with the provision that the Granite Mountain stock shall not be sold until five years after his death.

All the rest of his property he directs is to be equally divided between his children and appoints his son Edward executor, without bond.

Sues for Note and Damages.

W. A. Latimer, receiver of the First National Bank of Sedalia, filed a suit to-day against the Matthews-Sharp Real Estate Co. He says that he is entitled to the possession of a certain promissory note for $2,000 made by A. C. Baldwin and Kate Baldwin and payable to J. E. Ball or order. He asks for the note and $250 damages for the detention of the note.

Suit on Attachment Bond.

A. G. Maller filed a suit to-day against the Fuller-Warren company and R. J. Lackland and Wm. H. Thomson to recover $955.50 on an attachment bond given by that company.

MRS. MILLER DEAD.

Sick and Neglected Until Too Late to Be Cured.

Mrs. Catharine Miller died at the City Hospital this morning. She was only 18 years of age and was found in a squalid room at 1104 High street, ill with typhoid fever. She had not had regular medical attendance and her case was a hopeless one when she was taken to the City Hospital.

IN DEBT TO MILITIA.

No Money in the Illinois Treasury to Pay Off the State Troops.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 24.—Illinois owes the soldiers about $200,000 for their services during the late coal miners' and railway strikes. In addition to this sum the State owes about $150,000 for subsistence and transportation. There is no money in the treasury to pay these bills and the soldiers will have to look to public spirited citizens for their pay. Adjt.-Gen. Orendorff said this morning that the pay rolls will be given a negotiable character by a certificate from the Auditor that he will issue his warrant to whom the payroll is assigned with interest when an appropriation is made for that purpose and by the following indorsement of the Governor:

To be paid with interest when an appropriation therefore is made; I shall recommend 6 per cent.
JOHN P. ALTGELD, Governor.

It is believed that this will make the advancement of money for the payment of the troops a perfectly safe investment.

A. P. SELBY'S FUNERAL.

A Large Gathering of Friends—Interment in Bellefontaine.

The funeral of the late Arthur P. Selby, Clerk of the United States Circuit Court, took place this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the family residence, 3954 Morgan street. Religious services were conducted by Rev. Dr. S. C. Palmer, pastor of the Lafayette Park Presbyterian Church. Out of respect for the deceased the offices of the Federal courts and of the United States Marshal closed at 1 o'clock this afternoon and all the officials went to Mr. Selby's funeral. Although the request was made that flowers be omitted, in deference to the wishes of Mr. Selby's mother, the Federal Court officers were desirous to show how deep was their sorrow at the death of Mr. Selby, and they presented a beautiful floral tribute. The design was a broken column, over five feet high. Judge Thayer of the United States Circuit Court, who is summering in the north, also sent a floral offering. Judge Thayer expressed a high regard for Mr. Selby in a letter received yesterday. The interment was in Bellefontaine Cemetery. The pall-bearers were: William Morgan, Jere Haldeman, Capt. Nelson Young, Ralph A. Willis, George T. Settle and George F. Haid.

LEGALITY OF ARREST.

Question Whether an Officer Has to Witness a Misdemeanor.

A very interesting question came up in the First District Police Court to-day. Last Saturday William Westphal, living at 53 Wilson avenue, and Leonard Krider, living next door, became involved in a personal altercation growing out of remarks made by Krider about Westphal's father. Krider got the worst of the fight and had Westphal arrested two days later. Westphal's attorney raised the point at the trial that the arrest was not lawful, as under a decision of the Court of Appeals, a police officer could not make an arrest for a minor offense unless he had witnessed its perpetration. Judge Morris admitted that the Court of Appeals had decided as indicated, and he believed that tribunal was right—police officers should not arrest in minor cases unless they were present when the offense was committed, but that accused parties should be brought in by summons or warrants. He was of the opinion that if such arrests continued some one would get hurt, when the question would be finally adjudicated. Inasmuch, however, as the Court of Criminal Correction, the court to which appeals were taken from his court, had decided contrary to the Court of Appeals, and he was compelled to abide by the Court of Criminal Correction he would overrule the motion. Westphal was fined $5.

HUNDREDS COMING.

The 95-Cent Rate Bringing Texans to St. Louis.

The Knights of Pythias are beginning to arrive in St. Louis in great numbers from Texas and Arkansas on their way to the conclave at Washington, D. C., and with them are coming hundreds of visitors to St. Louis from the South and Southwest, attracted by the cheap rates. The competition for K. of P. business between the Texas roads has played havoc with the rates and scalpers are putting the finishing touches on by selling tickets from Houston, Tex., to St. Louis for 95c. The regular rate one way between these points is $24.60.

The association has authorized a rate of $15 for the round trip from Texas points to St. Louis, and the lines interested claim they are maintaining the rate authorized. The M. K. & T. has been accused of making a rate of $5 one way between Houston and St. Louis, but the charge is denied by Col. Barker, the Katy's General Passenger Agent. It has also been charged by competing lines that the Katy is sanctioning the cutting being done by scalpers, and is furnishing them with tickets, but this charge is also denied by them. Col. Barker left for Texas this morning, but before going he notified General Passenger Agent Sebastian of the Rock Island, who has called a meeting of interested lines at the Southern Hotel next Monday to endeavor to restore Texas rates, that he would be present and aid him as much as possible in the matter. The $15 rate made by the association for the round trip from Texas to St. Louis is a harvest for the scalpers. The regular rate one way being $24.60, they are enabled to sell that portion of the ticket reading from Texas to St. Louis for whatever they can get for it and by means of a correspondent in St. Louis to sell the return portion for enough to leave them a good profit. This accounts for the sale of transportation from Houston to St. Louis for 95 cents reported in a few instances. In such cases the buyer of the ticket is required to deposit with the broker or scalper the full value of the ticket, and on arriving in St. Louis and presenting the return portion of the ticket to the scalper's correspondent the difference between the price agreed upon and the amount of his deposit with the Texas broker is refunded.

Trouble has also broken out in Memphis over the Pythian rates and a rate war is threatened through that gateway.

He said he rented from agents, but thought the building belonged to Dr. A. C. Hawkins, though not positive. The case was dismissed as to Edwards and a summons issued against Hawkins to appear and explain why the ashes are not removed.

James O'Dell Mysteriously Missing When Needed as a Witness.

The case of Peter Higgins, James Mullen and Thomas Grimmer, charged with holding up James O'Dell on Aug. 14, at Sixth and Chestnut streets and robbing him of his hat and $11 was called in the Court of Criminal Correction to-day, but was continued until Aug. 27, because of the absence of O'Dell a hotel steward. O'Dell lived at 18 North Eleventh street, but the police state that he has mysteriously disappeared. He claimed that he was standing at the corner of Sixth and Chestnut streets at 2:30 o'clock in the morning waiting for a car, when a surrey drove up with three men. Two of them jumped out, O'Dell alleged, and one caught him and choked him while the other took his hat and money. They then got into the surrey and drove off. The next day the defendants were arrested on Sarah street, near Page avenue, by Detectives Gallagher and Roach of the Sixth District, driving in a surrey belonging to the Eclipse livery stable, at Francis street and Easton avenue. The rig had been hired the night before and was not returned. O'Dell identified two of the defendants as the men who held and robbed him. The defendants are out on bail and have influential friends interested in their behalf.

THEY CONFLICT.

Labor Day Proclamation and School Board Rules.

There is likely to be a conflict between the rules of the School Board and a recent Congressional enactment about Labor Day, Monday, Sept. 3. According to the rules of the Board, the schools open on the first Monday in September. By the law recently made by Congress, the first Monday in September is a general holiday, and the wage-earners of the city intend to march in procession through the principal streets and to picnic at Concordia Park. Gov. Stone issued a proclamation last Tuesday. In it he said his attention had been called to the fact that Monday, Sept. 3, was Labor Day, and he had been asked to urge its general observance. "This I take pleasure in doing. The occasion is one of national significance. It has been recognized by Congressional enactment and it will be observed in all the States." He concludes as follows: "I venture therefore to recommend to the good people of the Commonwealth the general observance of Sept. 3 as a public holiday, and to express the hope that no workingman in Missouri who may desire to have the day at his disposal will be disappointed by his employer."

THE SCHOOL BOARD RULE.

Assistant Superintendent of Public Schools Teuteberg said that there was no discretion allowed the executive officers of the board in the matter. The schools must open on the first Monday in September. The rules say:

The scholastic year shall commence on the first Monday in September. * * * The schools shall have a vacation from the close of the scholastic year till the first Monday in September; they shall also be closed from the 25th day of December to the 1st day of January, inclusive; on all Thanksgiving or fast days authorized by the State or by the general Government on Washington's birthday and on all Saturdays throughout the year, but on no other day unless by special permission of the board."

Mr. Teuteberg said that a special meeting of the School Board would have to be called if the schools were to be prevented from opening on Labor Day. C. P. Connolly, State Factory Inspector, thought that the opening of the schools should be postponed until Tuesday, Sept. 4.

Finds Its Way Into Court Through a Slander Suit.

MASON CITY, Io., Aug. 24.—The celebrated Pollock affair has at last found its way into court. A year ago Pollock, his wife and Miss Witnall suddenly left for Seattle, Wash. While there Miss Witnall died suddenly, and her remains were brought to this city for interment. Neighbors suspected that all was not right and the Coroner had the body exhumed, finding that Miss Witnall had died in child-birth. Pollock accused James Witnall, brother of the unfortunate girl, of ruining his sister. Witnall has instituted a slander suit for $10,000 damages and Mrs. Pollock is suing for a divorce and division of property.

SUGAR may have preserved the Republican party, but the Democratic party could have been saved without it.

BETWEEN negligent inspectors and Pennsylvania rogues Uncle Samuel's naval glory would scarcely outlast another war.

THE load of sugar and whisky which the American people are carrying just now is calculated to give them that "tired feeling."

THE nomination of Mr. Sapp for Congress in Kansas is of no consequence to the Sugar Trust. The Trust works only in the Senate.

NOW THAT the proposed dual Kolb Government in Alabama has failed to materialize, that $5,000 of the Boston Home Market Club seems further away from New England than ever.

THE Chicago Record has started a Pullman relief fund, topping the list of subscribers with $100 of its own. If Duke Pullman is not a philanthropist himself he is at least the cause of philanthropy in others.

THERE will have to be a force bill for the education of the Lily Whites of the South. If the colored man is good enough to vote their ticket for more than a quarter of a century he should certainly have some voice in their conventions.

THE defeat of Kilgore of Texas in a Congressional nominating convention may leave us without a patriot to kick the House door in should Czar Reed have a majority in the new Congress and resume his monkeying with the liberties of his country.

A CHICAGO official has been discharged for putting his two sons on the pay-roll, though they did no kind of work for the money they received. There will be little profit in the service of the public if these innovating dismissals are to become general in municipal management.

THE ex-President should beware lest, like Tom Reed, he be set down as a jester. His joke about attending a clam bake on condition that he be allowed to be a clam is not so bad as it might be, though Reed will doubtless whisper to the bystanders that it was somewhat clammy.

EDITOR KOHLSAAT, who inadvertently sold himself out of the Inter-Ocean of Chicago, thus depriving Mr. McKinley of a faithful organ, is said to have bought the New York Times, so that what the great tariff tinker has lost in the West he has gained in the East. With a daily newspaper and his brother Abner to look after his interests in the metropolis, there is no reason why Mr. McKinley's boom should not continue to wax to the very fullest proportions.

HOW PALE all other States appear in the effulgence of imperial Missouri! What other community can show within the space of a week 100 berries on one stem, a horse colt and a mule colt that are twins, a three-pound baby, a mule team that draws 6,328 pounds with ease, a snake with thirty rattles, a black man turned white, a snake full of squirrels, carrots that grow in circles, a bottle in the center of a solid log, nine inches of branch bearing eighteen large plums, a fifteen-feet seven-inches cornstalk, an eighteen-pound baby and a gobbler that hatches chickens? If the tide of next spring's immigration is not all this way, there is no weight in facts about resources.

WHEN Moorfield Storey told the Bar Association that the only way to cut down bribery and corruption was to strike the pocket from which the money comes he struck a great truth. In national, State and municipal legislation the cause of corruption is the money power which is willing to buy favors. There would have been no "hold-up" of the Senate without the corrupting millions of the trusts. The cities of this country would not be the victims of boodlers if rich and influential citizens were not willing to corrupt legislation in order to secure profitable franchises. The franchises of St. Louis would be now paying handsome returns to the city if rich and unscrupulous franchise-grabbers had not been willing to divide the spoils with lobbyists and official boodlers.

THE PRESIDENT'S RELUCTANCE.

President Cleveland does not take kindly to apologies and therefore his reluctance to sign the tariff bill needs no explanation.

The hand that penned the letter to Chairman Wilson and numerous messages condemning monopoly taxation could not sign the Gorman bill without explanation and apology. It could hardly affix the stamp of unqualified approval to an act of "perfidy and dishonor."

There are many excellent reasons why Mr. Cleveland should allow Gorman's measure to become a law. It is better than the McKinley law. It gives some relief to the people and makes a breach in the tariff walls. It secures the benefits of an income tax. The industrial and commercial interests of the country require a return of peace and stable conditions.

But none of the pleas for the President's signature offer a strong appeal to the President. His approval of the bill will not help any one who deserves help. It would probably be pleasant and profitable for Gorman, Brice, Smith, Hill, Murphy, Caffrey, Blanchard and other renegade Democrats to point to the President's signature as the proof of the Administration's approval of their work. But this apparent approval might prove costly to the Administration and the party.

The President cannot be blamed for preferring, if the bill must become a law, to have it slip into the statute book with no help from himself and in its true character as a "hold up," to which the Democracy was forced to submit. It is necessary sometimes to yield to highwaymen, but there is no obligation to pat them on the back.

AS TO OFFICIAL NOSES.

A South St. Louis correspondent in our "People's Forum" wonders why it is that when the nose of every plain citizen for miles around Edward Butler's stink factory is overwhelmed by the disgusting odors which emanate from it, not a single official nose, although plunged into the very pit of foul stenches, with the ostensible object of discovering odors, can detect the slightest unpleasantness.

Our South St. Louis correspondent is unsophisticated. His wonder arises from a profound ignorance of the actual conditions existing in municipal affairs. He thinks that a nose is a nose and is used for smelling purposes, whether it belongs to a plain citizen or an official. He is mistaken. The official nose is erratic and cannot be depended upon to do, under all circumstances, the work a nose ought to do.

To the initiated the reason for this is clear. The official nose is not always under the control of its owner. It is frequently in the hands of a political boss who pulls it about to suit himself. When Boss Butler put his sanitary job through the Council he got a hold on the Mayor's nose which has already incapacitated that official from detecting any unpleasant odor in the Boss' smell factories. In fact, he is not permitted to stick his nose in the way of these odors nor even to be convinced by others that odors which he ought to smell come from the factory. The same pull prevents the Health Department from discovering that there is an odor around the Butler works which would offend the most fastidious.

But the peculiar power of the political "pull" on the official nose has been illustrated recently in a remarkable way. In the case of the reduction works it has merely prevented the official nose from discovering unpleasant odors. In the case of the social evil it has convinced the Police Commissioners that the disreputable dens were malodorous in the neighborhood of Butler's property on Chestnut street, but were pleasant and innocuous in another part of the city. The Butler pull appears to be sufficient to have them removed from the place where he does not want them to the place where he does want them.

THE CARNEGIE PULL.

The report of the House Committee on the armor plate frauds lays bare the whole series of swindles perpetrated on the Government in the Carnegie mills.

After reviewing the various acts of fraud the committee declares that a fine or money compensation is an inadequate atonement for such wrongs, and recommends legislation denouncing similar frauds and making them punishable. "The frauds which your committee found," says the report, "are worthy to be called crimes."

Is this lame and impotent conclusion, which relieves all who are implicated in the frauds from criminal responsibility, the best that the committee can recommend? Is there no possibility of bringing to punishment men who swindle the Government, and by their swindling impair the naval strength and endanger the honor of the country and the lives of its sailors?

The frauds are not only "worthy to be called crimes," but they are crimes, and there must surely be some law on the statute books by which they can be brought to punishment. If the Federal statutes do not cover the case there must be some means by which the offenders may be punished under the laws of Pennsylvania, where the crimes were committed. We can hardly believe that Pennsylvania is so steeped in plutocratic corruption that under her statutes a monopolist cannot be punished for crime and swindling, if perpetrated against the Government.

If these frauds are passed without punishment the people will find it hard to believe that it is not due to the Carnegie pull in Washington—the same pull which enabled the company to get its fine substantially reduced when the swindle was first discovered.

THE history of the development of the equity injunction as a means of putting down strikes and combatting organized labor, which was so lucidly set forth by Charles Claflin Allen in his address to the Bar Association, contains food for serious thought. The remarkable innovations in equity practice and jurisdiction which he points out involve consequences of vital importance. The Federal courts are evidently grasping all the power within reach and we may soon have to determine whether, sitting as courts of equity, they can not only supersede the criminal courts, but act as a legislature for the manufacture of new crimes, and as a supreme court for the infliction of summary punishments with command of the whole military power of the Government to support their decrees.

IT has been found that the Chicago River cannot carry enough water to dilute the Chicago sewage sufficiently, and that the people along the Des Plaines and Illinois Rivers are likely to be sorry they gave their consent to the influx of filth into these streams. To solve this odorous problem it is proposed to cut a canal, to run through Midway Plaisance, that will furnish sufficient additional water. If Chicago were more progressive she would find some way to utilize her sewage instead of poisoning the people of Illinois with it.

MOCK COON, Lum Bick Hop and Mock Shon, deserters from the Chinese army, are being returned from the United States to their native land, where they will suffer death. They reached this country by way of Canada and under the exclusion act must be deported. Why can't Uncle Samuel humanely land them in the new Republic of Hawaii?

Boss Butler's Power.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

You have noticed that the property-holders and tax-payers of South St. Louis are making a strong fight against Ed Butler's stink factory.

It came among them against their most vigorous protests. Before the first lump of clay was turned they besought the proper authorities to protect them. They pointed out that the building permit had been obtained under a false title. Then there was a little harmless skirmishing, and a few communications between his honor and the Building Commissioner. Of course these gentlemen were in good faith, and learned for the first time of Edward's designs on South St. Louis. Needless to say our efforts were fruitless. Soon there rose before us Ed Butler's stink factory in all its hideous glory, rearing on high its tall black smokestack, as it were, a huge finger of Mephistopheles, snapping defiance at the hapless mortals of South St. Louis. An expert chemist said it could not stink and therefore it would not. No more experts for us. Give us a man with a healthy nose. Does it stink? Ask the brothers at the Alexian Hospital and their numerous patients, who can almost look down that nasty, filthy smokestack. Run over to Uncle Sam's Marine Hospital and hear the lamentations of its inmates; and don't forget the Home for Aged Israelites, and the Home of the Friendless, Maryville Convent and Concordia Seminary. Everybody down here, with the exception of an old lady who has lost her sense of smell, and a friend of mine with a hopeless case of catarrh, and a couple of saloon men near enough to sell a glass of beer to the thirsty stench-producer, everybody says it stinks most abominably and most offensively.

A large number of us went up as a delegation to hear the report of Mr. Francis. His honor and one of the members of the board were puffing away at their cigars, presumably to counteract the offensive fumes with which our clothes might be saturated. The atmosphere in that room was evidently very offensive. The board had nothing to say; no questions to ask. The Mayor alone asked one question and gave it up: "What do you propose to do with the garbage?" Nothing, your honor, that is Edward's property, and he makes big profits out of it. But when my neighbor throws his filth, dead poodles and cats into my yard, I shall sue him.

We have hospitals and convents, community homes, churches and schools down here, all in first-class shape. The building permits taken out for the last three or four years will show how rapidly we were improving. But now we are to be turned over to the autocrats of the stink factory. What rights have we that anyone need respect? If we don't like this stench-impregnated air, why, we can close our homes, hospitals, churches and schools, abandon our residences and get out. From henceforth South St. Louis shall be dedicated to the powers of stench, poisonous fumes and death-dealing gases. But we mean to fight them. We know whose these are, and they are many and strong. But we are full of confidence and of courage. We have truth and justice on our side, and the law is plain. It is our business to see that it be vigorously applied, and we count on the help of the fearless POST-DISPATCH. O. ZONE.

Vacation for Clerks Too Short.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I believe it to be a very general custom among the banks and large corporations and business houses to give their clerical force two weeks' vacation. Learning that the Boatmen's Bank was an exception to this rule and gave their clerical force a three weeks' vacation instead of two, the writer addressed a letter to his friend, Cashier Thompson, to know if it was true, and he replied as follows: "Your ideas on the subject treated are entirely right. Our rule for years has been for a three weeks' leave, when at all possible, and experience proves that the result, both to bank and employes, is eminently beneficial."

The United States Government gives its clerical force thirty days' vacation, and their working hours are only seven, while the hours of bank and other clerks are much longer. I think it would be wise if the other banks, institutions and business houses would follow the example of the humane and Christian action of the Boatmen's Bank.

The usual practice now is two weeks' vacation. If the clerk can get away at all it takes him a day or two to reach his destination, so that he gets a let up from his year's toil of say two days, not sufficient to recuperate his exhausted energies of mind and body for another year's toil for his employer.

Will not all of the managers of banks and other corporate institutions and our large business houses give this matter their serious consideration and by concerted and unanimous action join in this concession to their faithful clerical force, which seems to have worked so well and satisfactorily in the case of the Boatmen's Bank and for which they would receive the gratitude and thanks of the clerks, their families, relatives and friends and which would promote the health and happiness of their employes?

Will not some of those connected with our prominent institutions and business houses take the lead in this matter, in which beneficent action I feel all would heartily join? I. H. S.

Judge Cooley on Arbitration.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

In his address before the American Bar Association Judge Cooley takes the position that arbitration was impracticable in the A. R. U. strike, because "the board summoned to consider this would be wholly without jurisdiction to determine or even to look into the merits of the controversy which was the excuse for the one now brought to its attention."

But suppose we go back to the original strike and premise that there had been an arbitration law under which the matter must have been brought before a tribunal with full power so enforce its decisions. That must, in my opinion, be the ultimate solution of the labor question, unless we have State ownership of transportation and telegraph lines and allied industries, which would make short work of Duke Pullman and his ilk.

Corporations are granted peculiar privileges and immunities, for which they give no adequate return to the State. They should be compelled to arbitrate. If they do not like it let them go out of business. The State can easily provide a way to wind them up with justice to all concerned. P.

Settle the Conflict.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

The unfortunate conflicts between labor and capital must continue until some permanent adjustment is made that shall be equitable and fair to both interests involved in this conflict.

It seems to me that it will be to the interest of both to unite in asking an amendment to the Constitution that shall give to "Congress the power to regulate the interests between labor and capital, or laborers and employers," and that Congress shall have power to enforce by appropriate legislation the provisions of such an article.

If such an amendment to the Constitution was made the Government could create a commission to which all disputes that might arise could be referred for arbitration, and the finding of such a commission should be final and conclusive as to each party to the controversy. This would most effectually end the recurring strikes so injurious to both labor and capital and the business interests of the country. Cannot this be done and thus put an end to the labor conflicts? S.

A Case for Commissioner Bell.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

It is stated in your paper of Aug. 22 that Commissioner Bell proposes to enforce the law against saloon-keepers selling liquor to minors. I would like to say in our end of the town we do not have very much confidence in his enforcing the laws. We have a saloon at Wells Station which Mr. Bell promised us several times that we would be relieved from, and that he would not license it again. But he did, and the place is open all day on Sunday, and every night boys and girls congregate there and drink beer at the tables and make the neighborhood miserable with their noise. If Mr. Bell wants proof of this let him call on you for my name and address. CITIZEN.

MONEY ORDERS.

The Retirement of the Postal Note Causes Great Inconveniences.

The retirement of the postal note as a medium of transmitting small sums of money is the cause of much inconvenience to merchants and large establishments whose business obliges them to send amounts of less than $5 to persons with whom they have dealings. A complicated money order system has become the one means by which exchange could be carried on through Government channels on July 1 this year, when the postal note went out of service. Prior to that time money orders were only used for the transmission of amounts over $5. The new system has been in operation long enough to raise a storm of protest from those who have to suffer by its red tape and circumlocution methods. The officials at the Post-office receive many complaints, of which they will not speak for publication. A contrast of the postal note and money order system will show why merchants are complaining. The postal note was made out in less than a minute by the clerk, and the purchaser had merely to sign his name, pay 3 cents and the face value of the note and send the crisp piece of paper to the payee, who cashed it without being obliged to identify himself and answer many questions. The person who wishes to send a money order, whether for 50 cents or $100, must first fill out an application, which calls for a statement of the amount to be sent, the name and address of the payee and of the remitter, and the place at which the order is to be cashed. The Post-office clerk stamps the application and makes out the order. He has a rule of unique design with which he tears off a part of the coupon on the order and leaves figures on the margin of the order to show what is the amount. He indicates on the coupon which he retains the amount, and the names and addresses of the remitter and payee. He then gives the remitter a check and passes the order to the cashier. The remitter gives the check and the face value of the order, together with the fee to the cashier, who delivers the order. The remitter then sends the order to the payee. At the same time the post-master sends an "advice" to the post-master of the office at which the order is to be paid. The "advice" gives the amount and the names and addresses of the remitter and payee. When the man who wants to cash a money order presents himself at the window of the Post-office, the official in charge gets the "advice," and asks the payee to identify himself and to state from whom and whence he expects a remittance. As the money order does not state who sent it, the payee must prove his title by knowing all about the remittance. And all this must be done even if the amount remitted is less than $5. The fees are as follows: For sums not exceeding $2.50, 3 cents; not exceeding $5, 5 cents; not exceeding $10, 8 cents; not exceeding $20, 10 cents; not exceeding $30, 12 cents; not exceeding $40, 15 cents; not exceeding $50, 18 cents; not exceeding $60, 20 cents; not exceeding $75, 25 cents; not exceeding $100, 30 cents. The principal sufferers from red tapery of the money order system for the remittance of small amounts are the Liggett & Meyers Tobacco Co., Estey & Camp Piano Co., Simmons Hardware Co., and the Alden Vinegar Co. The new money order system is a greater bother than the old one.

DIPHTHERIA CURE.

Physicians Discuss Prof. Koch's Latest Discovery.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—The monthly meeting of the State Board of Health was dragging along in a desultory fashion at the Murray Hill Hotel, when a statement made by Dr. Cyrus Edson caused the dignified Chairman, Dr. F. O'Donohue, and all the others to start with surprise and interest. He announced that Dr. Herman M. Biggs, the bacteriologist and pathologist of the New York City Health Department, has just returned from Germany, where he made an elaborate study of a new lymph or injection for the cure of diphtheria. This lymph, or anti-toxine, as he called it, Dr. Edson said, was Dr. Koch's latest and newest discovery. Dr. Biggs considered it an infallible cure for diphtheria if applied within thirty-six hours after infection. The principle was the same as that of the celebrated lymph which Dr. Koch discovered for the cure of consumption. Dr. Edson defended the latter, which he said was all that Dr. Koch had claimed for it, though not what the public at first ignorantly thought it to be.

Dr. Edson said he had heard of this remedy some time ago. Rumors of its efficacy kept coming across until it was thought advisable to send Dr. Biggs to Berlin to investigate it. Dr. Biggs, he said, had spent a great deal of time in the laboratories there studying the new anti-toxine. Whatever doubts Dr. Biggs had at first were dissipated by his observations. He had seen Prof. Virchow and other famous German scientists who had investigated the remedy and had come to the same conclusion as himself. In Berlin he found between 3,000 and 4,000 well-attested cases in which diphtheria had been cured by this new anti-toxine. Such proof as that could not be disputed, and Dr. Biggs returned to America enthusiastic over the new Koch discovery. Dr. Edson would not then go into an explanation of the anti-toxine except to say it was an injection of the blood of animals which killed whatever poison germs of diphtheria were in the system. He said he was not prepared yet to give all the details. He was so satisfied of the efficacy of the lymph, however, that he intended to ask from the Board of Estimate and Apportionment an appropriation of $30,000 for the establishment of an experimental station for the manufacture and use of the anti-toxine as soon as all the necessary arrangements could be made. That showed what great faith he had in the remedy. He felt sure that if it were placed in the hands of the Health Department, it would save next year the lives of at least 1,500 people in this city.

This was not a speech, but a kind of informal talk from Dr. Edson, as they were all sitting around a small table in a parlor at the hotel. When he finished there was a buzz of excited comment from the other doctors.

"I am afraid it will be like the Koch cure for consumption," said one of them. "It may look like a grand thing at first and then simmer down to very little. Certainly, if it is all that is claimed for it, it is a magnificent discovery."

"Dr. Koch did discover a consumption cure," said Dr. Edson, "and it is what Dr. Koch represented it to be. If the complaint is pure tuberculosis, not allied with any other disease, it will cure it. I know of cases in my own experience. The diphtheria cure is doubtless on the same principle."

Dr. Biggs went down to the Bureau of Bacteriology, No. 42 Bleeker street, and met, by invitation, a number of physicians of this city. He talked diphtheria and the new diphtheria cure to them. He gave the results of nine months' experience in Berlin. Cultures of the diphtheria bacillus were shown and microscopic experiments were made.

Interesting Incidental Sketches of the Daily Work of Newsgathering.

OBLIGING TELEPHONE GIRLS.—A telephone mix-up produced a rare coincidence the other day. I was in the business district and called up a gentleman who is not always at his office. This was the conversation:

"Hello, is that 99999?"

"Yes."

"Is Mr. John Jones in?"

(Second voice, Mr. Jones himself.) "Yes, do you want me?"

"This is Blank. If you will remain at your office a few minutes I will call around to see you."

"But I am at Grand avenue and Olive street, and have just called up my office."

As it happened he and I called up his office at the same time, and the "central" put the three phones in connection. He and I were miles instead of blocks apart as I had hoped, yet we chose the one second in many thousand to ring up his office.

BEAT HAM.—I had occasion to visit some mines in the Ozark Mountains in Southwest Missouri a short time ago and was much impressed with the fact that pork was used almost exclusively, while there was abundance of cattle in the district and much game. Passing a stream I inquired of the stage driver if it contained fish.

"Lots on 'em," was the reply.

"What kind?"

"Mostly trout," said the driver. "All these streams are full of fish."

"They must be fine eating," I remarked.

"Fine eatin'!" exclaimed the driver. "You just go up the mountain and ketch half a dozen trout about twelve inches long. Clean 'em without washin' 'em, rub in some salt, roll 'em in cornmeal and bake 'em in the ashes. Good eatin'! Why, stranger, they beat ham."

A HOGAN ARMY JOKE.—Among the curiosities carried by Hogan's industrial army, and which they wanted to sell when the organization broke up, was an old-fashioned kitchen clock. Its face was badly scratched, the hands and pendulum gone, and altogether it was a sorry-looking affair. Police Capt. Young, who was seeing that the men moved away, went up to the auction store and asked the salesmen "what that thing" was.

"That's a saloon clock, Captain. Want to buy it."

"Why is it a saloon clock?" asked the captain.

"There's no 'tick' there." Then the army laughed at Capt. Young's expense.

"Yes," Leland replied.

A curious accident happened in St. Petersburg recently. A telegraph lineman, while at work on a pole, was suddenly struck by lightning and killed, showing nineteen burns. Question in Grammar.

L. Murray discusses the "ess" as applied to some feminine professions and not to others, and asks why, if a feminine termination is applied to some, it should not be to all? Answer. The only possible reply to this is that custom at first prescribed such termination, and, later, good authority decided that it was unnecessary and cumbersome to the language. Unquestionably the "ess" will be dropped altogether after a time.

PURELY SPITEWORK

Prosecution of Dr. Granby Howard, the Apostle of Occultism.

A VERY MUCH WRONGED MAN AND A VICTIM OF CHANCE.

Statement by Mr. Trevett, His Attorney, at Washington—The Doctor Now in Canada and Anxious to Return and Face the Music—Lack of Funds.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 24.—Dr. Granby Howard, according to his lawyer's statement, is a very much wronged individual and the victim of adverse circumstances. Howard was lecturing in Missouri, according to Mr. Trevett, his present attorney, where he met the Spechts, who, becoming interested in his occult religion, invited him to visit them at their home in St. Louis.

These several meetings were held with the view of establishing a school where Howard's theology could be taught. The proposition was made and accepted by Dr. Howard that Mrs. Specht sell some of her personal property and invest in a school of theology. Mr. and Mrs. Specht went to Gunston Hall, Va., to inspect some property there with a view to locating the school at that place. While there they telegraphed Howard, who had gone to his home in Montreal, to come back.

Mrs. Specht donated $11,000 to the cause of occultism, but Mr. Specht, wishing to make some changes in the property, used some of the money and gave the remainder, $5,000, to Dr. Howard.

Shortly after this Mr. and Mrs. Specht had some trouble, and Mr. Specht brought lunacy proceedings against his wife. Right here is where, according to Howard, his hard luck begins. The religious order to which he belongs is a secret one that shuns all publicity and notoriety and by advice of his former counsel, according to Mr. Trevett, and to avoid testifying against Mrs. Specht, Dr. Howard went to New York. In his haste to get away he left some unpaid debts behind, and to settle these he gave a mortgage on his personal property. It seems that the mortgage was foreclosed and the property sold, but the debts left unpaid.

Then came charges against Howard of obtaining money under false pretenses, and following the advice of his counsel he left the country, and is now in Canada.

After getting him safely out of the country Howard's legal adviser withdrew from the case, and now Howard is ready to come home and face the charges against him, but is unable to do so on account of the lack of funds.

Lawyer Trevett is anxious to get his client back in this country and is confident of clearing him of the charges against him, which he says are brought purely out of spite and in a spirit of revenge.

STARVING HOMESTEADERS.

Pitiable Condition of Thousands Who Settled in Cherokee Strip.

SEDALIA, Mo., Aug. 24.—Frank Miller and wife, formerly of Bainbridge, Putnam Co., Ind., arrived in Sedalia Wednesday night on foot and in a penniless condition. Miller had a claim of 160 acres in range No. 4, west, in the Cherokee Strip, near Camp Supply. He tells an interesting story of the condition of the settlers now in the Strip:

"I was a farmer in Indiana, and when I heard of the promises held out to the settlers in the Territory I at once got ready and departed, arriving there four days after the rush. I located a good claim, however, and last fall I broke ground for twenty-five acres of corn, which I put in this spring. The outlook was fine, but the drought came and swept the land like a blast from a fiery furnace. For two months before I left there was not a drop of rain nor a particle of dew. The only water—and that was very scarce—was impregnated with alkali and caused much sickness. The corn-fields began to dwindle away and the winds soon tore every blade from the stalks. The growth was small and was soon eaten up by the almost famished stock. Farmers are now chopping down trees and using willow sprouts to feed their stock.

"Such a condition thoroughly alarmed the farmers, who had but little in the first place. The rush to leave that part of the strip is now almost as great as it was to enter it a year ago. The people know that if winter overtakes them there they will surely perish. I know of at least 500 families in my section who are absolutely destitute. Government officials have guaranteed, however, to secure rations and transportation for them if the worst comes. Prairie schooners can be seen leaving the strip in every direction, and they are now passing through Fort Scott, Kan., at the rate of twenty-five a day.

"Myself and wife left our claim on Aug. 2, having only $3.50 as our entire belongings. We have walked the entire distance, about 400 miles.

MALABOCH'S SURRENDER.

Twice Attempted Suicide by Leaping Into a Camp Fire.

CAPETOWN, Aug. 24.—Advices received here from Pretoria, dated Aug. 7, say that the submission of Chief Malaboch has been joyfully received throughout the Transvaal. The details of the Chief's surrender shows that Malaboch, under cover of a white flag accompanied by his brother, his two young sons and four indunas, emerged from the caves in which they had sought refuge and surrendered to the Boers. But the Chief did not surrender until his enemies had employed every means, including the smoke of large fires, to drive him from his place of refuge.

The chief was very downcast after his surrender, and twice attempted suicide by plunging into the camp fire. Upon these occasions he was rescued with difficulty. He was badly burned.

While Chief Malaboch and his party were being escorted to the laagar of the Boers one of the indunas was shot for attempting to escape.

THRILLING ADVENTURE.

Passengers on a Mountain Train Narrowly Escape Destruction.

PHOENICIA, N. Y., Aug. 24.—Passenger train No. 7 on the Stony Cove & Catskill Mountain Railroad, which crawls along a narrow-gauge track to Hunter, and all the way climbs a steep grade, had a narrow escape with its load of passengers last night while going up the mountain. It met a wild train running down. The engineer of No. 7 reversed his engine and all the crew jumped. Several passengers did likewise and escaped injury.

Next came the crash and then followed one of the wildest rides passengers ever experienced, and they were saved from a fall down the mountain side by the bravery of one man. When the crash occurred the engine of the train No. 7 was badly broken and being reversed under full head of steam, started backward down the mountain without driver or fireman. In a moment terrific momemtum was gained and the train of light cars rocked and rolled around the dangerous curves. Everybody had given up hope when gradually the train slackened its speed and suddenly came to an abrupt stop.

Brakeman Arland B. Porter was the hero. He alone of all the crew had not jumped. His station was on the rear car, and when the wild run commenced he tried vainly to stop the train with brakes. Then he heard the puffing of the engine and realized that something must be wrong there. Running through the cars he climbed into the cab and pushed the throttle and the steam was cut off. The train was soon stopped.

THROWN IN A PIG-PEN.

Inhuman Attempt to Destroy an Illegitimate Child.

WICHITA FALLS, Tex., Aug. 24.—An inhuman act was recently perpetrated here. Ida Gonzales, the unmarried daughter of Peter Gonzales, gave birth to a child. The supposed father, Tom Blackwell, a brother-in-law, took the child and threw it into a pig-pen. The babe was found a few hours afterward but slightly injured.

Blackwell and the inhuman mother were both arrested and jailed on charges of attempted infanticide.

BY FORCE OF ARMS.

Americans May Demand Release of Innocent Prisoners at Bluefields.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—Advices received here from Bluefields, evidently later than those received at Colon, say that the Nicaraguan troops are returning from Bluefields, and that they reached Greytown yesterday, bringing with them a Mr. Hatch, the British Consular Agent, and eight foreigners as prisoners. It has also been announced that a British war vessel arrived at Greytown yesterday evening.

New Orleans advices received last night describe the arrest of Dr. Hatch and the arrest of Capt. G. W. Wiltbanks, an American who accepted the position of Judge under the Mosquito Government, and of several Mosquito creoles.

Mr. Hatch succeeded in dispatching a note to the English cruiser off Bluefields, and Mr. Seat, the United States Consul, communicated with the United States cruiser Columbia. It is believed that Mr. Hatch is charged with having incited the Jamaicans to riot and bloodshed.

When these advices left Bluefields that place was in a state of great excitement and it was said that the Americans would demand, by force of arms, if necessary, the release of the innocent men, and the United States cruiser Columbia and the British cruiser Mohawk were expected to take action in the matter.

THE WIRE NUISANCE.

Requests From Planters' House and Union Station Managements to B. P. I.

The B. P. I. at its meeting this morning refused to approve of the plans of the Lindell Railway Co. to construct a bridge over the Wabash Railway at Euclid avenue.

Chas. Schweickhardt's bond of $20,000 was approved and sent to the Mayor.

A communication from the managers of the new Planters' House asking that the wires belonging to the city be raised, was referred to the Supervisor of City Lighting.

The Edison Illuminating Co. informed the B. P. I. that it had served notice on the Municipal Electric Lighting Co. that all permits granted to put wires on the Edison company's poles were void unless such space as was already occupied.

A letter from Comptroller Sturgeon saying that there was no money available for painting the Court-house and recommending that the matter be referred to the Municipal Assembly at its next meeting, was filed.

A communication was received from Dr. Taussig asking that the telephone wires in front of the new Union Station be removed.

CINCINNATI'S UNEMPLOYED.

A Novel Plan on Foot to Furnish Them Work.

CINCINNATI, O., Aug. 24.—A novel yet promising plan to help the unemployed of this city is being engineered by several prominent persons here. They propose to raise $50,000 by subscription. Having this they will secure several of the big hills about the city whose owners are unable to or are in no hurry to grade down. The macadam, sand and gravel will be for sale, the receipts from this source being added to the original amount.

The Mayor and Board of Public Affairs regard the plan as perfectly feasible. Just at present there are more unemployed in this city than ever before and the outlook for the fall and winter is far from reassuring.

A movement is also on foot to have a special session of the Legislature called to pass a bill authorizing cities to issue bonds for work on public improvements so that the unemployed may have work.

Territory Coal Mines.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 24.—The condition of the coal mines in Indian Territory is described in detail in the annual report of United States Mine Inspector L. W. Bryan. The output of the mines was 1,000,000 tons, and 8,290 miners and day men are employed. Concerning the strike of the Choctaw Coal & Railway Co.'s miners, the report says:

"A company of soldiers is now encamped at Krebs and the men at all of their Strip pits have gone to work. The company now hopes to be able to continue work unmolested. None of the coal mines, however, have yet started up. The effects of this prolonged strike are disastrous to all concerned."

Labor Notes.

All the coal miners in Ray County, Mo., are again out on a strike. They demand 4 cents a bushel instead of 3½.

At the second conference of the manufacturers and window glass workers, held at Pittsburg, Pa., during the week, no scale could be agreed upon. A complete shut down is probable.

General Manager Dickinson of the Union Pacific is daily receiving hundreds of petitions from business men along the line asking that the old employes laid off since the strike be reinstated. Mr. Dickinson will make a trip of investigation through the West on the matter.

That Perjury Charge Against Maginnis.

The arrest of Attorney Louis A. Maginnis yesterday by Sheriff Buren of Hillsboro, Jefferson Co., Mo., on a charge of perjury was on an indictment returned by the Grand-jury of that county. Maginnis was arrested in St. Louis some time ago for gambling and locked up in the holdover over night. He brought a suit for damages against Chief Harrigan and others which was tried before Judge Green of Jefferson County and the defendants were discharged. It is alleged that Maginnis perjured himself during the trial.

KERENS' OWN IDEA.

His A. P. A. Resolution Was Not Suggested by Cardinal Gibbons.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—Mr. Richard C. Kerens of St. Louis, member of the Republican National Committee, denies the report printed here to-day that his anti-A. P. A. resolution, which was side-tracked by the Missouri State Convention, was suggested by Catholic prelates.

"I know," he said to-day, "how that report got around about Cardinal Gibbons influencing the resolution I had placed before the Republican State Convention. Cardinal Gibbons and Archbishop Kain visited Elkins, W. Va., just before the convention. Elkins is the summer home of ex-Senator Davis, Stephen B. Elkins and myself, but I was not at Elkins at all this summer.

"The statement that I have been influenced by the Catholic Church in anyway is wholly false. Neither Cardinal Gibbons nor Archbishop Kain nor any one of the clergy had any knowledge of that resolution before it was offered.

"I did not consult with anyone about this resolution. It was wholly my own idea. It was true I did see and talk with several leaders of the Republican party of Missouri there at the convention, but I consulted no one before that time. These gentlemen in the main heartily approve of the resolution."

GRAZED THE ROCK.

Steamer Dunottar Castle's Very Narrow Escape From Disaster.

LONDON, Aug. 24.—The British steamer Dunottar Castle, from Port Natal, grounded on Eddystone rock at 5 o'clock this morning. She was floated at 6 o'clock without sustaining any serious damage.

The Dunottar Castle narrowly escaped being wrecked. After passing Nahant, the steamer ran into some dense fog banks. Nearing Plymouth "breakers ahead" were reported, and the engines were ordered full speed astern. But before the vessel had time to slacken speed her bow grazed the rocks, with a dull, scraping sound.

The fog then lifted and showed to the alarm of all on board that Eddystone lighthouse was right ahead, and that inside the ridge the Dunottar Castle was on the Eddystone reef. The engines were kept going full speed astern, and the steamer gradually glided into deep water and was brought safely to Plymouth with a big bulge in her forefoot.

Water Main Burst.

PEORIA, Ill., Aug. 24.—The 10-foot water main leading from the pumping station to the 80,000,000 gallon reservoir three miles away on the bluffs back of the city, burst yesterday afternoon, and the city has since then been without water. Elevators are stopped, some industries are suspended and there is not a little suffering as a result. A duplicate line of pipe was laid to the reservoir.

Earthquake in Sicily.

PALERMO, Sicily, Aug. 24.—A fresh earthquake shock was experienced yesterday at Santa Catarina. People fled in terror to the fields.

Various Accidents.

John B. Hirsch of St. Joseph, Mo., was killed by lightning while hunting. He had taken shelter under a tall tree during a thunder storm.

Peter Cunningham, a miner, while attempting to steal into the races at Leavenworth, Kan., through a hole in the fence, was fatally kicked and trampled upon by a vicious horse.

Hale McCarthy, a colored miner, was killed, and Will Bryant, George Henry and Henry Washington, also miners, were badly injured in mine No. 46 of the Kansas and Texas Coal Co. at Bevier, Mo., by a falling rock.

Joseph Marple, a carpenter, fell 80 feet from a scaffolding while at work on the High School building at Springfield, Mo. He partially broke his fall by grasping a swinging rope. A rib, both legs and an arm were fractured, but he will probably recover.

Joseph Biezinger, an employe of the Beck Brewing Co. at Buffalo, N. Y., was killed and his body thrown into a tree by the explosion of a cylinder of anhydrous ammonia, which he was carrying to the brewery in a wagon. The wagon was demolished, but the horses were uninjured. The heat of the sun upon the cylinder caused the explosion.

PAN YIM'S PREDICAMENT.

Having Much Trouble in Returning to America, His Adopted Land.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 24.—Pan Yim is a Chinese tea merchant of this city, who married his pretty young American saleswoman about three years ago after an elopement to Chicago, where the event was the social feature of the year among the local Celestials. Pan took his wife and boy to his native land last year and has now reached an American port in the West on his return. But the laws relating to the return of Chinamen are in a snarl and he is having trouble. It is announced that a girl baby was born to the couple on the other side, which complicates matters.

The law will permit the wife and child born in America to land, but the father and China-born child may have trouble. The local revenue officers say that it may require an act of Congress to admit Pan and the girl. The family of Mrs. Yim is highly respectable, and while the girl's marriage was a bitter blow to them, they have made the best of it and are now much distressed over their daughter's troubles.

To Help Sick Women.

"I want to tell you what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Sanative Wash have done for me.

"I was so bad with falling of the womb and Leucorrhœa that I could not stand.

"I had doctored so much without benefit I was entirely discouraged. I expected to die.

"One evening I read in the 'Herald' about this medicine. I went to the druggist, got some, and took 3 bottles of the Compound, and used one of the Sanative Wash.

"I am now well and strong, am never troubled with either of the complaints. If more women would use Mrs. Pinkham's medicines there would be less suffering in the world."

POWER OF SONG.

"How oddly things come about!" Mrs. Marshall said, coming into the room where her sister and two daughters were busily engaged in the manufacture of two elaborate evening dresses. "Mrs. Montgomery has just called, and tells me her brother Harold will be home in time for Mrs. Grant's party."

The knot of blue satin ribbon was suddenly crushed out of all shape by the quick, convulsive gasp of Miss Effie Selwyn's fingers, while about that lady's lips gathered a whiteness and moisture that threatened a fainting fit.

For a moment the room looked dark and the voices sounded far away, and indistinct—only for a moment; then she roused herself bravely, to see that her agitation had been unnoticed, and to hear her niece, Carrie, saying:

"I never knew Mrs. Montgomery had a brother."

"Probably not," said Mrs. Marshall. "He has been in China for—how many years is it, Effie?"

"Twelve."

For her very life Effie could not have spoken more than one word with composure.

"Twelve years!" cried May. "No wonder you think Carrie and I know nothing about him. He must be as old as his sister."

"Let me see; he was about 23 when he went away," said Mrs. Marshall, musingly. "He is not more than 35. That is still young for a man."

The Misses Marshall, brightest of blondes, were to appear at the coming festival in clouds of white tulle, with blue trimmings, and the multitudinous skirts, puffs and ruffles demanded by fashion required busy stitching for weary hours beforehand.

Miss Selwyn had also been bidden to the party, but "Aunt Effie never went anywhere," the girls said, so there was no dress preparing for her adornment.

As her needle went in and out, through cloudy tulle and lustrous satin, Effie Selwyn thought:

"[Ah]n, the bitter folly of the past! May and Carrie are now as light hearted and gay as I was when Harold Russell and I clasped hands, with a promise to be all and all to each other. Only one little week of happiness and he left me.

"How long was it? A year, two years, before I knew that he thought me false to him, never guessing that it was Kate's betrothed husband he saw me greet so warmly, when I never guessed he was near.

"Poor sister Kate, she never knew the anguish her handsome lover caused me.

"If Harold Russell loves now it will be some brilliant girl, not the faded shadow of his old love! Yet—yet"——

The eventful evening came at last, and the girls were shut up in their rooms, untwisting wonderful crimps and otherwise preparing for conquest.

In her own room with the door securely fastened Effie Selwyn was, she said in her own heart, "making a goose" of herself.

Her thirty years of peaceful life, with only one heart struggle, had left her face as smooth as in girlhood. Blooming she had never been, her oval face having a soft, dreamy complexion that was seldom flushed with color, though its exquisite fairness was never pallor.

"Considering it is twelve years since I wore this dress and flowers, I do not look so antiquated. A train is always a train, and I suppose the overskirt modernizes it," thought Effie.

Then she went to a box hidden away in her bureau drawer, and from its most secret corner she took a ring, wrapped carefully in soft cotton.

"Dare I?" she whispered, turning it round under the gaslight and showing the device, an enameled violet, with a flashing diamond for its heart.

"Will he despise me if I put it on?" she thought. "Will he think I am too easily won back again? Should I despise the hasty judgment that led him to condemn me unheard, twelve long, long years ago?"

She hesitated some moments, then put the ring upon the forefinger of her left hand, turning it so that the violet was hidden, and only a plain gold band seemed added to her other rings.

"Effie, are you going? Girls, your aunt is going."

"Oh!" cried Carrie, "you magnificent auntie! you will throw all the girls into the shade. What a superb silk! and you in full dress!" she continued, with more enthusiasm than grammatical precision.

"Where did you dig up that violet silk?" asked Mrs. Marshall. "I thought its glories had departed years ago. "Do you remember the evening you wore it, when papa gave Kate her first party?"

"I remember," Effie said, in a low voice.

The evening was half gone and Effie had only seen at a distance the tall figure and handsome face of the hero of the evening.

He was much altered, Effie thought. Yet, as the hours flew by, she caught herself recognizing certain expressions of the dark eyes, the mobile mouth, certain inflections of the deep, manly voice, and once her heart beat tumultuously as a familiar laugh rang out upon the air.

More than once she had screened herself from a tall figure approaching the place where she stood, and more than once the violet silk had flitted into another room just as Harold Russell thought he could touch it.

There had been much dancing, much flirting and many games of whist, when a small party of music lovers collected around the grand piano begging Miss Selwyn to sing.

"Just one song, Miss Selwyn," Mrs. Grant herself entreated. "There are so many anxious to hear you."

Very reluctantly the lady drew off her white gloves and seated herself before the piano.

The group around her listened for the usual brilliant prelude and an elaborate and difficult "show off" song, but after a moment of silence the little hands struck two rich, full chords. A moment she paused then to steady the trembling heart; then, in a clear, sweet voice, she sang the opening verse of "Auld Lang Syne."

The second verse was sung, when close beside the singer a deep bass voice joined in the chorus.

Quick crimson flushes passed over Effie's cheek, but she sang steadily, at every chorus the voice she knew so well joining her own. Nobody else noticed it, but with each verse these voices, so estranged grew stronger, clearer, more jubilant, till with the last one the spirit seized them all, and a deafening chorus of the company closed the song.

They drifted away, broke up into couples and groups, while Harold Russell, affecting to turn over some music, said in a low voice:

"Can we indeed be as in Auld Lang Syne, Effie? Can you forgive me?"

For answer she slowly turned the ring upon her finger until he recognized the device he had chosen for her twelve years before.

"Mamma," May Marshall whispered, "do you see Aunt Effie dancing with Mr. Russell? I do not see one young couple so handsome and distinguished looking as they are."

A sudden memory flashed over Mrs. Marshall.

"The last time Effie wore that violet silk," she thought, "she danced with Harold Russell, and the next thing we heard of him he was on his way to China. I remember now, Effie soon after began to withdraw from society. I wonder."—Boston Globe.

WANTS HIS WIFE.

John Gardner of Pittsburg, Kan., Says Edwin Pinkham Took Her Away.

A very excited man was Mr. John Gardner of Pittsburg, Kan., at the Union Depot this morning.

A very mad man was Mr. John Gardner as he told a POST-DISPATCH reporter his story of woe. He at first gave his home as Girard, Kan., and then finally said that his home was in Pittsburg. Said he: "I am, or was, a happy married man up until a few months ago. My wife and I, with my two children, live near Pittsburg, Kan. I am interested in mining and am fairly well to do, and have always until a short time ago considered myself able to keep my wife in the manner in which she wanted to live.

"About that time, a man who said said his home was in this city, and claimed to be in the drug business here, came to Pittsburg, where I made his acquaintance and invited him home with me for a few days. Now that's where I played the fool," continued Mr. Gardner, "I should have shot him then and there.

"He stayed for a few days at my house and then came to St. Louis. After a week or more I received a letter from him. It was written on a Meyer Drug Co. letter head. In it he said that he would be back to Pittsburg the following month.

"A short time after this I began to suspect that he was writing letters to my wife, and finally accused her of it. She denied it stoutly, but not long after this I intercepted a letter from him to her. It was written in German and I could not read it, and as I dreaded the scandal, I did not ask any one to read it for me. I wish now that I had. His name was written in English and—"

"What was that name?" interupted the reporter.

Mr. Gardner hesitated and had to be pressed hard before he would tell the name, but reluctantly said after a time that the man's name was Edwin Pinkham.

"On Monday last my wife left home, telling me she was going into town to do some shopping and would return soon, but she never came back, and I learned at the depot that she, with a man answering the description of Pinkham had bought tickets for St. Louis, so I have followed them, but I don't think they are in St. Louis. I have reason to believe they will go to New Orleans, where I shall proceed to-night if I don't find them here."

The Meyer Bros. Drug Co. repudiate all knowledge of Pinkham, but say it is possible for outsiders to get possession of their letter-heads, and that frequently men come in to their place of business to write letters and use their stationery.

A PECULIAR WEAPON.

Men in a Western Indiana Town Who Carried Ears of Corn.

From the Mail and Express.

John McCarthy of Cincinnati, one of the best and best known newspaper writers in the West, has seen some fierce life and death fights "along the river"—fights which meant business, without any stakeholders, or gate receipts, or newspaper blow or bluff. "But," he said the other day, "the queerest thing I ever looked on in the way of a weapon I saw at a little bit of a windswept prairie town in Western Indiana, a 'corn town,' where ex-President Harrison and a hunting party disembarked to go through miles of stubbles in quest of quail in 1888 after his election. I was stationed in Indianapolis to keep track of the President-elect, and went on that excursion, which was in charge of ex-Congressman Pierce. When the party had finished the day's shooting, I went to the railroad station, a little two by four affair, to telegraph my story. The place was closed, but an urchin told me where the operator lived. It was about a mile out on the prairie, but I found his cabin, and with the promise of a bonus, induced him to come back and open up. When we entered the station he took off his coat, but before he sat down to the instrument he pulled a hard, heavy ear of corn about sixteen inches long, out of his pocket and laid it gingerly on the table, much as a man might lay down a big Colt's revolver loaded.

"'What's that for?' I asked.

"'Oh, just to see that no skeeters don't bite ye,' he answered. Then he picked up a piece of board which some carpenters had left, and with one sturdy blow of the huge ear of corn split the strip from end to end, and threw the pieces into the corner. 'D'ye see?' says he. 'Yes,' says I. Next day I noticed that all the prairie men who came to town to see Gen. Harrison had big ears of corn in their hip pockets and didn't seem to be afraid of much of anything. A regiment of men with those ears of corn would drive Li Hung Chang and his pigtail soldiers into the Northern Ocean."

GOT A DRESS SUIT.

One of Phil Armour's Employes Takes Advantage of His Opportunities.

Eugene Field in Chicago Record.

Our respected townsman, Phil D. Armour, has the name of being pretty liberal with his employes. He pays good salaries, but he wants faithful service. It is his custom to make occasional presents to his men either in cash or its equivalent, and it is not an uncommon practice with him to give an employe an order for a new suit of clothes. He called one of his young men aside one day and said: "I want to make you a little present. You wouldn't object to some new clothes, would you? Here is an order for a suit; please accept it as a token of my recognition of your service."

The young man was very much pleased. But when he came to think the matter over he said to himself: "The chances are that I'll never get this opportunity again. Mr. Armour has an army of employes and it is altogther unlikely that my time will ever come round again. I need a business suit, but I can buy it with my own money. I'll do the smart thing and get a dress suit on this order." And the young man chuckled to think what a real shrewd game he was playing.

When Mr. Armour got the bill for $80 for that dress suit he was considerably surprised. He leaned his head upon his hand and considered the affair calmly; then he sent for the young man.

"My young friend," said Mr. Armour to the fellow, "is this bill correct?"

The young man looked at the bill and said yes.

"When I gave you the order," said Mr. Armour, "I specified no amount which I was willing to pay. I took it for granted that you would pay that consideration to my friendly liberality which others in my employ have always observed; I supposed that a young man occupying a comparatively humble position would be contented with moderate-priced attire. You see I wear very inexpensive clothing. Forty dollars would, I think, have purchased as fine a suit of clothes as you should have. I am not finding fault with you; I shall pay this bill and shall never allude to it again. But I have called you in here to ask you, as a business man, whether you really think it was a smart business procedure upon your part to practice that which might be construed as an imposition upon a kindly disposed employer? Do you not think I would naturally have been more pleasantly disposed toward you had you been as generous in your use of my friendliness as I was in extending it to you?"

The young man was greatly abashed. He tried to apologize and he stammered confusedly.

"You are a young man," said Mr. Armour, kindly, "and you have much to learn. I want to impress upon you that you should never take even a seeming advantage of a friend, for, aside from all other considerations, that is not a smart business move."

This lesson had its desired effect. Mr. Armour never alluded to the affair again, but he was pleased to see that young man proved by his devoted service genuine regret for his foolish error. The young man has been promoted from time to time and is now one of Mr. Armour's trusted lieutenants. It is he himself who tells this story of his employer's generosity, amiability and forbearance.

To His Best Knowledge.

From the Macon Telegraph.

A lawyer was cross-questioning a negro witness in one of the justice courts the other day and was getting along fairly well until he asked the witness what his occupation was.

"I'se er carpenter, sir."

"What kind of a carpenter?"

"They calls me a jack-leg carpenter, sah."

"What is a jack-leg carpenter?"

"He is a carpenter who is not a first-class carpenter, sah."

"Well, explain more fully what you understand a jack-leg carpenter to be," insisted the lawyer.

"Boss, I declar' I dunno how ter 'splain any mo' 'cept to say hit am jest de same diffunce between you an' er fust-class lawyer."

The negro was one of the old-fashioned kind, and did not mean to be insolent or impudent, but had just decided in his own mind that the lawyer asking the question was not a first-class lawyer.

It is needless to say the questions ceased at once.

Miss Robinson: "Yes."

Mr. B.: "Alice, darling! When?"

HEAVY MARKETS.

The General Tendency of Prices Was Downward.

The Cincinnati Price Current says: If the wheat crop should, in fact, reach 500,000,000 bu, which appears within the range of possibilities, and 10 per cent of it, which is a full calculation, should be absorbed by animals, there would be remaining enough with the surplus of previous production to furnish usual domestic requirements and afford 155,000,000 bu or more for exportation during the year, by reducing supplies to a low or minimum point.

Late advices from South Russia indicate an indifferent crop of corn, but the Azmia crop of wheat is said to be fine an heavy, while the Ghirka is not so good. Conflicting reports, as a rule, continue to come from Russia; the average point to less abundant harvest than previously expected; not to exceed an average.

It is now said that a reinspection of the corn fields in Dakota and Kansas shows that there is a chance for the formation of more corn than originally supposed. This is also true in Iowa, it is claimed, and the rush to sell cattle, it is predicted, will let up, although at most packing points there is now a glut.

The last wet harvest in Europe, says the Chicago Herald, was in 1879, when wheat sold from 86c to $1.05¼ in Sept, to $1.20 in Oct, $1.21¾ in Nov and $1.33½ in Dec. The foreign wheat was all mildewed and Europe bought 100,000,000 bu that fall. The United States raised that year the largest crop on record up to that time, or 448,000,000 bu.

Miss Julia Threlkeld, representing the well-known milling journal, the Modern Miller of Kansas City, is in the city and will call upon the millers and merchants in the interest of that publication. Miss Threlkeld is bright and attractive and undoubtedly will do well for herself and the Miller.

Wheat continues to pour into Liverpool, and but a comparatively small proportion is from this country, but no corn is arriving in that market. During past three days wheat receipts were over 810,000 bu, and only 175,000 bu of this came from America.

The Missouri Pacific crop bulletin just issued estimates the corn crop in Kansas along the lines of their road as not better than 50 per cent of a full crop, and from that down to 10 per cent. In some spots in the West no yield is expected.

Cotton mills are preparing to start up, or where running, to increase their manufacture and run full time. The Amoskeag corporation, Manchester, N. H., will start all its machinery next Monday. These mills employ 60,000 persons.

Heavy rains have, it is reported, seriously interfered with the wheat harvest in Belgium, and have resulted in an uneven and generally inferior quality for the new crops.

A Liverpool cable to the E. B. White Grain Co. states that their market is affected by unfavorable weather advices. "We need," it concludes, "better reports from your side to maintain prices."

The official Manitoba crop report places the estimated average of wheat at 15.6 bu per acre, making a total of 15,761,868 bu. The yield last year was 15,616,000 bu.

Boll worms and sharpshooters are reported damaging cotton in some sections of Texas, the latter doing most harm to the plant.

In Louisiana the planter is complaining of too much rain as having an unfavorable effect upon the cotton crop.

Gus Wachter after a week's fishing on the Gasconade has returned to business.

Improving weather on the other side is reported by private cables.

Late New York wired: Berlin cable says stormy weather in Eastern Germany now and it has extended into Western Germany.

ON 'CHANGE.

Grain.

Wheat—With light speculation and no particular news to start active buying or selling, the market hung irresolute and showed little change during the first couple hours. The tone, however, was heavy, and prices gradually eased off about ⅛c, though firming up some late. At close Dec was offered ⅛c below yesterday.

The easy feeling at opening was due to unfavorable cables, Liverpool reporting that market adversely affected by the lack of strength on this side, the Cincinnati Price Current's bearish estimate on the crop surplus and nothing particularly bullish in the news or influences. A slight toning up after the early easing off soon went out of sight, so uniformly bad came all the latest information. Receipts at all points were 1,250,000 bu, and clearances from four ports only 35,000 pkgs flour, 51,500 bu wheat. The late cables were discouraging, Liverpool closing [illegible] lower, and Berlin about ⅛c and Paris [illegible] off. New York also reported Liverpool selling there. Late in the day buying against "puts" rallied prices some, but the close was heavy.

FUTURES—Sept opened at 51⅛c and sold to 51⅜c, off to 50⅞c, but at close 51⅛c bid. Dec opened at 54⅝c and sold to 54⅜@½c to 54⅝c down to 54⅛@¼c and back to 54⅜c, but latter asked at close. May sold at 60c to 59⅝c.

SPOT GRADES—Lower prices failed to attract other than regular speculative or elevator demand. No 2 red sold on call at 50⅞c in United and 51c E side. No 3 red offered in United at 49¼c, bid 48½c and for E side 49⅛c bid. No 4 winter 45½c bid United, 47½c E side.

Sales: No 2 red—19 cars in United at 50⅞c, 5 cars and 3,300 bu E side at 51c. No 3 red—1 car and 220 sks E side at 48½c. Rejected—2 cars and 70 sks in United at 45c.

SAMPLES—Received 5,424 sks, 53 cars local, 20 cars through. A sluggish market at lower prices and nothing above the grade rate obtainable. Really only one miller in market and he looking for choice samples.

Corn—Wet weather and a decline in Chicago on larger receipts gave the local market ⅛c lower opening, but trading was light and there was not much for sale. The heaviness in wheat had a bad effect, and, though there was a ⅛c reaction from the opening it was not sustained. Cables were firm or steady, but very little cleared from the seaboard. At the close a slightly firmer feeling was manifest and there were buyers 1-16c above the bottom rate.

FUTURES—May opened at 49⅛c and sold up to 49⅜c and back to 49¼c, closing at 49¼@⅜c bid. Sept offered on call at 53½c and only 52c bid. Dec offered at 48⅛c, bid 47½c.

SPOT GRADES—Buyers and sellers were wide apart on call, where No 2 was offered regular at 55c, bid 52½c and 53c bid E side, 53⅜c for U, and No 2 white offered regular at 53½c, bid 52½c, and 52⅞c bid E side. After call it was difficult to find a buyer, even at materially lower prices.

Sales: No 2—1 car in F at 54½c, 2 this side at 54c. No 2 white—1 car E side at 54c, 1 in C at 53c.

Late No 2 was offered regular at 53c and could not be sold.

Oats—Along with corn and wheat, the speculative market was heavy and declined, though closing with buyers at ⅛c lower. May sold early at 35⅞c to 36c and on call at 35⅝c, but at close 35¾c bid, and 31⅛c then bid for Sept. Aug offered on call at 31⅛c, bid 30⅝c.

SPOT GRADES—Lower to sell and little apparently wanted on call. No 2 was offered regular at 31⅛c, bid 30⅝c and for No 3 regular 29c bid.

SAMPLES—Received 35 sks, 28 cars local, 1 car through. An extremely dull market at first, ⅛c decline and buyers shy at that. The weakness displayed on call held local feeders off. Their wants were small any way and they would not purchase to any extent, save at such low prices that sellers could not accept.

Sales: Special bin—1 car No 2 in D early at 32c. Track this side—5 cars No 2 at 31½c, 1 No 3 white at 34c, 1 do early at 34½c, 1 No 2 do at 35c.

Rye—Orders here from Nebraska and Texas could not be filled, owing to the high price paid by local buyers. On call No. 2 offered E. side at 56c, bid 52c. Afterward 1 car No. 2 sold E. trk at 52c and 2 cars No. 3 at 49@50c.

Hay.

Received 704 tons; shipped 262 tons. It was a bad day—raining and muddy—and this kept most buyers away from the tracks. There was no pressure to sell, however, current offerings were smaller and the stock in store held firmly. Good prairie continued scarce and firm.

Sales: This side—4 cars prairie at $8, 1 at $8.50, 1 fancy at $9.50, 4 timothy at $11, 2 at $11.50, 5 fancy at $12. East track—1 car badly stained red top mixed at $6, 1 clover mixed and 2 timothy at $10, 1 at $10.50, 2 at $11, 1 at $11.50.

Flour and Feed.

Flour—Market continues generally dull, though more doing for export, sales being reported of 15,300 sks, mainly for English and Irish markets. The prices accepted were low and had little margin of profit. Domestic business quiet.

Sad Death of Little Cornelia Noemi Farish.

Cornelia Noemi Farish, the 8-months-old daughter of Mr. J. Hamilton and Mrs. Janet Pierson Farish, met with a shocking death between 7 and 8 o'clock last evening at the family residence, 3869 Delmar avenue. Mrs. Farish returned to the city last evening at 6:30 o'clock with her two children, the elder of whom is aged 3 years. She had spent the heated term on Chesapeake Bay with her little ones and their nurse, Sophie Kahrs, and some members of Mr. A. J. P. Garesche's family. Mr. Farish was glad to be united with his family again, and his wife proudly told him that Cornelia had learned to crawl at the seashore. She took her husband up to the nursery where the little one had been placed in its crib by the nurse. As Mr. and Mrs. Farish were approaching the door of the nursery, the nurse-girl rushed out with the child's dead body in her arms. It appears that Sophie Kahrs, the nurse, left the little one in order to attend to other household duties. When left alone the child became restless. Its body slipped out of the crib, but its neck was caught in some of the fastenings and the little one was strangled to death. The parents were prostrated. Dr. Louis E. Newman, the family physician, said that the child suffered no pain. Deputy Coroner Albers held an inquest over the body to-day and returned a verdict of accidental death. The funeral took place this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The Cyclists' Suit on a Subscription for Tickets Continued.

The suit of the Associated Cycling Clubs of St. Louis against Canfield & Sachtleben of 421 North Seventh street, to enforce a contract for $50 worth of tickets subscribed for by the firm, which had been set for trial to-day, was continued to Sept. 7. D. W. Robert, President of the Associated Clubs, said Mr. Canfield, who subscribed for the firm, was angry because he had been deposed from the chairmanship of the Division Racing Board by Chief Consul Robert Holm, and refused to take the tickets he had subscribed for when Secretary William Butler of the Missouri Division and Mr. Robert presented them. The outcome of the trial will be watched with great interest by the bicycling fraternity and by the public generally, the legal obligation of a subscription not having been tested in court.

SHE WAS NOT LOST,

But George W. Baker Reported His Wife to the Police as Missing.

A POST-DISPATCH REPORTER LOCATED HER AND HEARD HER STORY.

She Says She Left Her Husband Because He Took All Her Wages and Blacked Her Eye Because She Withheld 25 Cents of Her Earnings.

A few days ago Geo. W. Baker, residing at 2813 Spring avenue, reported to the police that his wife, Catherine, had mysteriously disappeared and asked their assistance in locating her. He claimed that she had left home without cause or provocation, and that he had no knowledge of her whereabouts.

A POST-DISPATCH representative made an investigation to-day and facts were brought to light indicating that if Baker was in the dark relative to the whereabouts of his wife it was because he had made very little effort to find her.

A visit was made to his residence, around which was found very little sign of life, but open windows indicated recent occupation. It was ascertained from a neighbor that Baker and his brother, who owned the property, were keeping bachelor's hall there and probably were not very far away. A few minutes later Baker put in an appearance with a bucket of beer he had obtained in a neighboring saloon.

In reply to interrogatories, he stated that he came home one evening, not long since, and discovered that his wife had packed up her duds and disappeared. He had no knowledge where she had gone, and had only heard of her once, she having called at a house on Cottage avenue. All he wanted was to locate her. She had no excuse for leaving, except that he had reprimanded her for drinking too often and too long. He suspected that there was a man in the case, but declined to tell whom he suspected. "I don't want you to write this matter up, though—all I want is to find her," was his closing statement.

The reporter had no trouble in locating the missing woman. She, according to her statement, was living with her sister-in-law, a sister of Baker. She explained that the reason why she had left her husband was that he had mistreated her. She worked in a laundry and he collected her salary regularly, and she had been supporting him for a long time out of the proceeds of her labor. He had blackened her eyes not long ago because she had withheld 25 cents of her wages from him. She had determined not to live with him any longer and would begin a suit for divorce. Mrs. Baker is a neat little woman, about 20 years of age, and makes a good appearance.

A GRATEFUL PATIENT.

William Kramer Bequeathed His Money to the City Hospital.

Wm. Kramer, a young man who died at the City Hospital this morning, bequeathed all he had to that institution. He said that he had a small sum of money deposited with Conrad Tiersch of 507 South Second street and that he had been treated so well that he wanted it to be given to the City Hospital. Dr. Heine Marks will notify the Public Administrator and whatever money Kramer may have deposited with the landlord will be used to pay funeral expenses. Kramer was a native of Germany and died with pneumonia.

THE GARBAGE CRUSADE.

Temporary Lull in South St. Louis—War in the North.

There was a sullen truce to-day in the garbage war in South St. Louis, due perhaps to the excitement of yesterday having been rather intense, combined with the damp, muddy weather of to-day. As a POST-DISPATCH reporter waded through the mud down Montana street in a bank of fog and mist well mixed with smoke from an adjoining brick yard he passed between a double row of signs "This house for sale," painted in rough letters.

The houses were all comparatively new brick structures, built to live in by their owners themselves.

At the works a garbage wagon, one of the watertight kind, was standing on the scales with little rivulets of slop juice running out from the sides of the tail-board. When the wagon had been duly weighed it pulled in to one of the dumps, and the whole load of filth was dumped into a vat, the top of which was level with the floor.

Engineer Wiselogel came into the office, and was asked if he used the "Merz" at the south end. Capt. Wiselogel said: "Yes, we do. The Merz process consists in first drying the garbage and then reducing it by the ammonia or hydrocarbon process. As to my saying we were taking steps now to stop the smell, I have been misquoted. We originally planned to handle but 100 tons of stuff a day here, but now we get about 200 tons, and in consequence have had to get bigger pumps and increased blower capacity. We are putting in new machinery as fast as men can do the actual labor necessary."

The wagons go by any route they see fit to take to the works now, but the darkey drivers have a very watchful air about them. The rumor that the process at the South End works had been shorn of many of its necessary elements had gained some ground this morning, and it was stated that the slop was simply cooked and reduced in one process, which accounted for the strong smell of cooking garbage which emanated from the chimneys.

The North Enders are beginning to protest now after the fashion of those in South St. Louis, and protests and complaints are beginning to come in. They object to being given the monopoly of the dead animals, and do not consider them very pleasing additions to the community. They think that at least the South Enders should have their share of dead horses and cows.

Chas. Mueller to-day complained to Health Commissioner Homan that the odor from the St. Louis Sanitary Works at the foot of Wright street was unbearable, and asked to have the nuisance abated.

Rev. J. T. J. Ingraham, rector of Grace Church, also filed a complaint against the garbage reduction works at the foot of St. Louis avenue. He said that he had heard many complaints concerning these works and that he hoped the board would take some means to remedy the evil.

THE UNDERGROUND WIRES.

The City Counselor Thinks the Postal's Action Legal.

City Counselor Marshall said to-day that he did not see any legal impediment which would prevent the Postal Telegraph Co. from putting their wires in the St. Louis Underground Service Co.'s conduit nor any which would prevent the St. Louis Underground Service Co. from operating a conduit. He knew of no defect in the franchise granted to the company, but he added that before he would give an opinion on the subject he would have to give it more consideration.

Printers and Pressmen Unite.

Conference committees representing the International Typographical Union and the International Printing Pressmen's Union met at 5 South Broadway yesterday and formed an alliance between the two organizations. The printing pressmen seceded from the Typographical Union about two years ago. The councils of the unions in every city and town in the United States and Canada will be allied and a joint union label will be used. The agreement was indorsed by President Wm. B. Prescott of Indianapolis of the Typographical Union and President Theodore Galoskowsky of St. Louis of the Printing Pressmen. The agreement will have to be ratified by the two bodies.
